Good Weather, Crops Give Optimism To Ag Progress Days

From the most modern to the uniquely antiquated, farm machinery worked in a showcase setting at Ag Progress Days this week. Sponsored by Penn State University's College of Agricultural Sciences, the educational and research aspects of the event were obvious. In the upper photo nine different makes and models of mowing equipment were demonstrated in the fields with opportunity to compare their work. This is one of the most attractive reasons farmers give for attending. But nostalgia was also allowed to have its demonstration. In the lower photo, the Dr. Robert Cowan family demonstrates the O.K Panama Hay Press that was manufactured in 1905 to 1906. Dr. Cowan donated the machine to the Pasto Agricultural Museum where it was completely restored. This is the only known machine of its kind that is not missing any parts. A fun time was had by both operators and spectators. Photos by Everett Newswanger, editor

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) - What a difference a year makes. Last year at Ag Progress Days, agriculture faced the effects of drought and the end of the 20th Century. This year adequate rainfall has graced the growing season. In addition, the feared Y2K bugs never appeared and clear, bright weather last week for the show gave farmers and agribusiness representatives an optimistic outlook. This optimism was clearly expressed in both the Penn State Alumni luncheon on Tuesday and in government day activities on Wednesday.

In his state of the college address, Dean Robert Steele said with the dawn of the new millennium, the key words are innovation and invention.

"The state of Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences has never been better," Steele said. "Alumni from all periods of the last Century have brought us to the present. Now the brightest and best students are coming into the college. The next generation will take us into the future.

"Every student who graduated last year could have a job if he or she wanted it," Steele said. " The problem was not getting a job. The problem was choosing which job they wanted to take."

Steele also complimented the faculty and staff for their continuing commitment to the students. New members of the faculty are bringing additions to the program.

On Tuesday afternoon, the Dairy of Distinction Program held a recognition ceremony and announced the new class of 2000. Alan Bair, director of the Penn State Dairy Stakeholders was the guest speaker. He said the winners in their farm beautification program were a good reflection on the whole dairy industry. Image is very important when dealing with consumers. He credited dairy farmers with not only good looking farms but also with personal integrity that adds to the total image of dairy farming in Pennsylvania.

Entries Down, Quality Up At Pa. Hay Show

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Though entries are down from 130 or so last year to about 83 this year, the 2000 Pennsylvania Hay Show at Ag Progress Days provided a look at some quality hay.

Despite a wet year that could cause some damaged hay, "there is some hay here that is real good," said show judge Lester R. Vough, forage crops specialist with the Natural Resource Science Department at the University of Maryland.

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Since 1850, Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences has utilized an array of field days to educate producers about latest practices and research results.

Ag Progress Days has grown from the original "Grassland Field Days" to feature a broad scope of events and exhibits.

From horse breed clinics to farm equipment on the highway seminars to stream corridor or water quality tours to field machinery demos to insect-borne diseases workshops, the three-day event has become a valuable educational and informational forum for the agriculture industry.

Community Impact

In the College of Ag Sciences building, the theme "Inventions and Innovations" continued the tradition of disseminating information to the public from the university. Martin Shields, co-designer of the model and assistant professor of agriculture economics, along with community and economic development extension agent Winifred McGee introduced the "CIM PSU" program featured at one of the booths.

According to program information, business changes affect other businesses, tax collection, public services and school districts. Consequently, because of the importance of economic changes to a community. Penn State developed an economic model to help answer the "what if" questions of economic changes.

The model analyzes economic factors in a community and plugs in data to help decision makers plan land uses, focus business retention and recruitment efforts, avoid mistakes in crisis situations, and project the results of changes to a county.

The model has been used for ten simulations in several Pennsylvania counties. In Adams county, the model predicted the economic impact of losing fruit trees to the plum pox virus. In Indiana County, the model projected the impact of closing the coal mines; in Oil City, the model analyzed the impact of closing the oil refinery; in Susquehanna County, the model helped to determine how a proposed community rail service would affect community growth.

The Golden Egg

The program with the theme, "In An Eggshell: Spinning Garbage Into Gold" addressed how to safely dispose of 300,000 tons of eggshells per year. Eggshells, unfortunately, have an odor, are not quickly biodegradable, are not accepted by many landfills . . . and are being produced in immense quantities every day.

According to program information, to separate the membrane and shell, the shells are run through a meat processing

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer

ATLANTA, GA.
Aug. 16, 2000
Report Supplied By USDA

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was generally noted as seasonally moderate to good. Seller offerings varied from fully adequate to short. Live supplies were mostly moderate; weights were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderately heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 46 to 63 cents. Trade sentiment was mostly fully steady. In the parts complex, bone-in breasts were generally noted as tight. Boneless skinless breasts were available at some plants. Leg items ranged from in good balance to fully adequate. Wings were irregularly balanced, but were at least adequate.

Northeast Broiler Fryer Parts Part I

ATLANTA, GA.
Aug. 16, 2000
Report Supplied By USDA

Trucklot buying interest was generally fair with and usually rated as typical of midweek activity. Supplies of bone-in breasts were limited and continued to trade at premium levels. Offerings of boneless-skinless breasts were adequate, and the remainder of items were generally available.

Movement through retail and distributive channels was fair to moderate at best. The market tone was fully steady on bone-in breasts, about steady on the balance.

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
Aug. 16, 2000
Report Supplied By USDA

Daily National Grain Market Summary

Weather and exports made for improved grain and soybean bids at midweek.

Wheat steady to 7 cents higher. Corn 3 to 4 cents higher. Sorghum 6 cents higher. Soybeans 5 to 9 cents higher.

Overnight wheat sales to Brazil helped support bids, today. Indications that Egypt also bought winter wheat added to recent purchases by Brazil and Morocco. Spring wheat harvest is making good progress and tempered upturns.

Weather has become the major strengthening factor for corn and soybeans Bids lately, especially soybeans. Hot temperatures continue to beat down on already dry fields and crop stress is showing in many places. The most damage is being done in the western Corn Belt, Delta, and Southeast.

Soybean plants are podding at this time on numerous acres. In many areas, beans at the bottom of the plants are pretty well filled out. However, many places need more moisture and a little relief from the extreme heat for pods on the upper portion of the plants to reach maximum production. Rains are in and out of the Midwest forecasts daily and some areas have received enough to preserve yields. Eastern Corn Belt is getting a much larger percentage of coverage while the western Corn Belt and Southeast are receiving widely scattered showers. Corn is pretty much matured but another rain and cooler temperatures may help the ears develop fully.

Overnight export sales of US corn offered support.

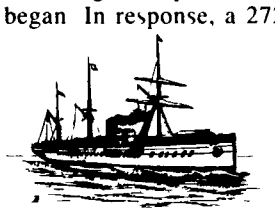
The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

AUGUST 21-27, 2000

ST. BARTHOLOMEW, AUGUST 24.

PANIC AND SHIPWRECK

At St. Bartholomew, cold dew," says the weather lore for August 24, but cold dew was hardly the problem on that day for victims of the Panic of 1857 Embezzlement in the home office of the Ohio Life Insurance & Trust Company caused a failure at its New York branch When the New York banks closed their doors, a general panic resulted, and a run on the banks began In response, a 272-foot steamship, the S. S Central America, was sent out of Panama in early September, carrying (in secret) 15 tons of gold, bound for the U S banks Lacking good weather information, the ship sailed directly into the path of a hurricane—and sank 200 miles off the coast of South Carolina



Pray to God, but row away from the rocks.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Grass clippings are a good addition to your compost pile.

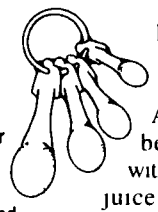
BLUEBERRY SLUMP

3/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon each: nutmeg, cinnamon, and cloves
8 slices firm-textured bread
1/2 cup (1 stick) melted butter
4 cups fresh blueberries
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind



Blend sugar with spices Brush bread with melted butter, then cut it into strips Place a third of the bread into the bottom of a 9x5-inch loaf pan and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of the sugar mixture Add half the berries, sprinkle with half the lemon juice and rind, then repeat the layers, ending with a top layer of bread Bake at 375°F until the blueberries start to bubble, for about 30 to 45 minutes Serve warm with ice cream

Makes 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

At St. Bartholomew (Aug. 24), / There comes cold dew.

If the wind increases during a rain, fair weather may be expected soon.

Lightning brings heat.

Do You Suffer From Fibromyalgia?

When I was introduced to New Image I was 50 pounds over weight and suffered from fibromyalgia I was so depressed and in pain the majority of the time I was taking steroids and four other medications one of which made me so groggy I could hardly get out of bed and another gave me ulcers I began taking New Image secretly because I thought my family would make fun of me After a month I discovered I had lost eight pounds and seven inches Wow! Then it dawne don me I was feeling better the depression and pain were gone In two months I was off all medications I feel SUPERIFIC! Now two years later I have lost 43 pounds and 30 inches Than you New Image for giving me a new life again Judy Swift Mt Washington KY

The Building you want.
The Lease you need.

Telmark has been leasing equipment for over 35 years. Did you know that we've been leasing new buildings for that long too? Consider:

- Tax deductibility and accelerated deductions: Lease payments are income tax deductible over the term of the lease compared to 20-year depreciation of farm buildings and 39-year depreciation of commercial buildings. Could reduce tax liability this year.
- Low upfront costs: Beginning costs as little as one monthly lease payment.
- Flexible lease term: Building lease terms start aggressively at five years but may be as long as ten, twelve, or fifteen years.
- Customized payment schedules: Lease payment schedules are specially designed to match your cash flow.

First: Talk with a qualified builder to determine your needs and building cost.
Then: Call your Telmark representative for your financing.

OPINION

Pesticide Record Keeping A Federal Requirement

Pesticide record keeping has many benefits for farmers. It's the key to a successful integrated pest management program, and it helps assess pesticide performance. But the real reason to keep pesticide records — its the law.

Section 1491 of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act (FACT Act) of 1990, commonly referred to as the 1990 Farm Bill, requires the U.S. Department of Agriculture to implement pesticide record keeping requirements. The law requires that all certified private pesticide applicators keep records of their use of federally restricted use pesticides. The requirement became effective May 10, 1993.

A certified private applicator is defined as anyone certified by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) or the State to use or supervise the use of a restricted use pesticide. A certified private applicator is allowed to use federally restricted use pesticides for the production of any agricultural commodity on the property owned or rented by the applicator or the applicator's employer or, if applied without compensation, on the property of another person (with some limits).

Within 14 days after the application of a restricted use pesticide, a private applicator must make a record of:

- The brand or product name of the federally restricted use pesticide.
- The EPA registration number.
- The total amount of the product used. This does not refer to the quantity after water or other substances are added. The amount does not refer to the percent of active ingredient.
- The size of the area treated in a unit of measure such as acre, linear foot, bushel, cubic foot, number of animals, number of pots, etc.
- The crop, commodity, stored product, or site to which the product was applied.
- The location of the application. This does not mean the address of the farm or business. The regulations allow several designations: county, range, or township and section; maps or written descriptions; or an identification system established by the Farm Service Agency or Natural Resources Conservation Service. The identification system involves maps and a numbering system to identify field locations. The legal property description may also be used.
- The month, day, and year of the application.
- The name and certification number of the applicator.

Records must be maintained for two years from the date of the pesticide application. There is no required Federal form; any form or format is acceptable as long as all the required data are included. Record keeping will also provide protective information if anyone questions the application.

To Check Savings Bonds

Are there older U.S. Savings Bonds hiding in your home? Many older Series E Savings Bonds have reached final maturity and are no longer earning interest. But, they could be worth more than five times their face value.

By visiting www.savingsbonds.gov, you can use the Savings Bond Calculator. This is a free program that tells you the current value of your bonds, when they increase in value, and when they stop paying interest. Savings Bonds purchased prior to December 1965 stop earning interest after 40 years from the issue date. Savings Bonds purchased after November 1965 stop earning interest after 30 years from the issue date.

If your Savings Bonds are no longer earning interest, you should redeem them at your local financial institution. Or you may exchange them for Series HH Bonds for up to one year past final maturity and continue to defer the accrued interest for federal income tax purposes.

For more information, call (800) 4US BOND or write to Savings Bonds, Parkersburg, WV 26106-1328 and ask for a current values chart.

To Plan End Of Summer Fun

Summertime is a time for fun and family activities, according to Debra Naumann, Lancaster County extension family strengths agent.

As summer is coming to an end and school will be starting soon, here is a list of fun and inexperience ideas for end-of-summer activities that children and adults can enjoy together. Not only are these activities fun, but they are sure to "reconnect" family members.

- Visit a zoo
- Enjoy a garden
- Fly a kite
- Star gaze
- Wash a car
- Paint with pudding
- Complete a jigsaw puzzle
- Have a "clean-an-attic" party
- Enjoy sidewalk art
- Visit the airport
- Pick fruit at an orchard
- Make ice cream
- Set up an obstacle course
- Take a nature hike
- Take a bike ride
- Visit a museum
- Read together
- Play charades
- Attend local fairs
- Cook or bake together
- Volunteer
- Have a watermelon seed-pitting contest
- Organize a neighborhood block party
- Take a mystery car ride to anywhere.

To Check Sweet Corn Fields For Fall Armyworms

The next corn pest to be looking for is the fall armyworm, according to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County extension agronomy agent.

Projections are that the fall armyworm could be a problem this year because of the cool weather, which has slowed the growth of corn and a later-than-normal planting time for many cornfields.

Adult armyworm moths move into Pennsylvania in late July and early August each year. The female moths lay their eggs on young corn plants. Once the moth has laid her eggs, they will hatch in four to six days, depending on temperature. After hatching, the larvae will move into the corn whorl to begin feeding on the developing tassel and ear. Larvae feed for a short period of time before pupating into a moth. Larvae feeding are fast and voracious. Unless fields are scouted on a regular basis, a timely application of a control is difficult.

Once larvae are more than one inch long, treatment will not be of value because most of the larvae will soon stop feeding and pupate. Scout only late-planted corn. Corn that has tassels emerged will not attract females to lay eggs. Look for whorl feeding on 20 consecutive plants in the field. Pull several whorls at random and unwrap the leaves. If larvae are present, note their size. If 35 percent or more of the whorls checked show feeding and the larvae are less than three quarters of an inch in size, treatment maybe of value, according to research at the University of Illinois.

SET YOUR MIND!

Background Scripture:
Colossians 3:1-17.
Devotional Reading:
Mark 12:28-34.

We all have known children who greatly resemble, sound like, or act like one of their parents or even another family member.

We attribute these resemblances to either genes or unconscious emulation, or both. Even more amazing are husbands and wives who, after some years of their marriage, begin to physically resemble one another. This we cannot chalk off as genetic inheritance. It suggests to us that we can tend to become very much like that thing or person with whom we spend a significant amount of time.

Nathaniel Hawthorne once wrote a story entitled "The Great Stone Face." If I remember it correctly, it is set in the locale of Franconia, New Hampshire, in the shadow of the "Old Man of the Mountain," a huge stone promontory on the mountain. It is about a boy named Ernest, whose mother tells him the legend of the "Great Stone Face," which the local people believe that some day a native son of the valley would return to it and his face would bear the image of the "Great Stone Face."

Ernest grew from childhood to boyhood to manhood, ever breathless, awaiting the return of the hero of the legend. Various natives of the valley did return, but none of them fulfilled the legend. Until one day the people of the valley made a discovery! It was Ernest himself who looked like the "Great Stone Face." He had lived so long in the presence of his ideal that he had at last become like his ideal.

You Can Choose

In this life we can choose — in fact, we do choose — what we will let occupy our minds. Many of us do this rather unconsciously and end up preoccupied with things that generally drag us down, rather than lift us up.

Occupy your mind with your troubles, defeats, and infirmities and you will end up with a mind that has little room for Jesus Christ. Continually think about how unfair life has been to you and your life will be even more shaped by your thoughts.

Ernest, in the story above, lived every day of his life with the legend of the "Great Stone Face" in his consciousness, so he grew to resemble it.

Isn't that what being a disciple of Jesus Christ is — living in his presence day after day so that our lives become more and more like his? That is what Paul is telling the Colossians: "If then you have been raised with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is . . . Set your minds on things that are above, not on things that are on earth" (3:1,2)

For Brother Lawrence it was a matter of taking Christ along with him into the monastery kitchen where every day he scrubbed the pots and pans. He became Christlike because he spent every day in his presence. He lived as close to Christ as he could. In what presence — what thoughts, what attitudes, what habits — do*you* spend the better part of your time?

How Can You Tell?

If we live as close to Christ as we can — reading about him in the Bible, thinking about him, speaking to him, and even listening to him — then we will become more like him.

How can we tell that we are becoming "more like him"? Once again, Paul speaks to us as well as the Colossians: "Put on then, as God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, compassion, kindness, lowliness, meekness, and patience, forbearing one another and, if one has a complaint against another, forgiving each other . . ." (3:12,13). Notice he doesn't mention arguing about doctrines and beliefs, doing battle with people who don't agree with us, or "protecting our churches from the influence of sinners."

Why is it that some Christians become just the opposite of what Paul outlines above?

If we live as close to Christ as we can, if we fix our minds upon him, we cannot help but become more like him. "And above all these," says Paul, "put on love . . ." (fix your mind on it!) ". . . which binds everything together in perfect harmony. And let the peace of Christ rule in your hearts" (3:14,15).

What rules in our hearts is not something that gets there by accident, for what is there simply reflects that upon which we fix our minds.

Entry Deadline Near For All-American

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — It's time now to submit entries for the 2000 All-American Dairy Show to meet the early deadline and avoid late deadline charges. Early entry deadline is August 25; second entry deadline is September 6. Entry forms may be obtained by calling the All-American Dairy Show office at (717) 787-2905.

The Show opens Sunday, Sept. 24 and concludes on Thursday, September 28 at the Farm Show complex in Harrisburg.

"If you have not exhibited at the All-American before, or if it has been a few years since you brought your best cattle to Harrisburg, this is the year to do it. In addition to a dramatic increase in premiums, we offer real dairy cattle show competition, the best facilities, great food for exhibitors, and dairy fellowship. This is the place where dairy cattle breeders display their best," said All-American Promotion Coordinator Lolly Lesher.

Entries postmarked on or before are accepted at $20 per animal, whereas entries postmarked by September 6 are accepted at $30 per animal.

Monday features the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show; Tuesday will feature the Eastern National Ayrshire Show, the Pennsylvania Fall Championship Holstein Show and the Eastern National Milking Shorthorn Show; on Wednesday there will be the National Guernsey Show and the Eastern Regional Brown Swiss Show; Thursday will be the Eastern National Holstein Show and the Mid-Atlantic Regional Jersey Show. The show will conclude with the Supreme Champion Pageant, at which time the John L. Morris Supreme Champion Blanket will be awarded to the best animal in the show.

Thanks and Congratulations to...

Paul, Dave, and Ed, with his wife Diane.

Weekly Dairy Market Outlook

By Ken Bailey
Penn State University
August 11, 2000

Block Prices Surge!

- CME block prices rise to $1 2750/lb
- Barrel prices remain weak
- Butter prices steady
- New Penn State study released

The dairy industry has just set a record for weirdness The '93spread'94 between block and barrel prices is usually $0.03-$0 05 per pound. This spread normally reflects lower packaging costs for barrel cheese than for blocks. But this spread can change each week due to supply and demand conditions. This week things got really strange!

Barrel cheese prices at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange fluctuated between $1.0450 per pound and $1.06 during the week of August 7-11. This is below the support price of $1.07 per pound for barrel cheese. No barrel cheese entered the Commodity Credit Corporation this week under the dairy price support program. Block cheese prices, however, surged from $1 1875 per pound on Monday, August 7 to $1.2750 per pound by Friday, August 11. The spread thus ended the week at $0.2150 per pound.

This is a very unusual situation since barrels and blocks normally move up and down together Weak demand for barrel cheese over the past few weeks has sent barrel prices below support levels. That would normally send block

NEW UNI AEROBIC EXERCISERS
For Better Health, Fitness & Relaxation

5 minutes on these machines is equal to walking 30 minutes
Stimulates lymphatic flow
Increases the energy level
Improves blood circulation

Increases the oxygen level in the blood.
Helps align the spine to relieve back pain.
Produces a relaxed feeling.

If you have any of the following problems you should start using a UNI Exerciser.

Sleep restlessly & wake up tired, lower back pain, suffer from chronic fatigue, frequently feel tense, nervousness, general pain and insomnia, suffer from allergies and sinus problems, have overweight problems, poor functioning of internal organs, poor digestion and constipation problems, susceptible to colds and flu, or suffer from arthritis. Ideal for people who don't have time to exercise and older people who have difficulty exercising, or in bed and can't exercise.

The following models are all in production.

They all have a soft cushion footrest, timer and variable speed control, except air unit has no timer. The Economy (E) models with a 1 year limited warranty are equal to or better than other units on the market, even those which cost much more.

E-110AC Unit with 110 volt AC motor, cords & controls..$260
E-12DC Unit w/12 volt DC motor (needs no inverter).....$295
E-AIR w/air pressure power unit, w/controls & adapter...$325

Model 100 are all heavy duty units with an internal steel frame, ball bearings, rubber motor mounts, sway adjustment and base extensions with rubber bumpers. The 110 volt AC unit also has a lightening arrestor. The new 100 series all have a 3 year limited warranty, because they will last much longer, use less current or air, and fun quieter. Don't be fooled with imitation and copycat units. Other exercisers can not match these units because these have a patent pending.

100-AC with 110 AC volt motor, cord and controls.....$395
100-DC Unit w/12 volt DC motor (no inverter needed)....$425
100-AIR w/air pressure power unit, controls & adapter...$450
Foot Vibrator for 110 volt AC and DC units are optional....$80

Base extensions and foot vibrators can also be installed on all previous Economy and 100 units, and present Economy units. Add $10 to ship 1 unit by UPS, and $18 for 2 and $20 for 3 units. Personal checks, Visa, MC and Discover Cards are accepted.

Dealers Wanted. Buy only 3 units at a 30% discount to qualify. Extra volume discounts and monthly bonus available with the dealers you enroll. Servicing dealers also wanted.

	CATTLE	CALVES
THIS WEEK	1992	1849
LAST WEEK	1687	1812
LAST YEAR	2782	1851

CATTLE: Compared to last week's closing prices, slaughter steers and heifers closed 1.50-2.00 higher. The bulk of this week's advance came on Monday's opening market. Prices were strong, but still only regained about a third of the losses experienced over the last month. The spark in prices caused local farmers to market a good many well finished cattle that they had been holding back. Midwestern fat cattle sold 1.00-2.00 higher from 65.00-66.50 live and mostly 104.00 dressed. The only justification for this week's market rebound was the maturation of the August live cattle futures contract. Numerous loads of hedged fat cattle were delivered this week to reap the 66.00 futures price and cash trading was forced to follow suit. Local Holstein steer demand was rather light this week and prices closed steady to weak. Slaughter cows finished steady to 1.00 higher on midweek gains. Slaughter bulls ended 1.00- 1.50 higher on a light supply. Supply included 38 percent slaughter steers, 5 percent slaughter heifers, 44 percent slaughter cows, 4 percent slaughter bulls, with the balance feeders.

SLAUGHTER STEERS: High Choice and Prime 2-4 1085-1475 lbs 67.75-70.00, fancy singles up to 73.00. Choice 2-3 1025-1510 lbs 66.00-68.75, high dressing 1-2 up to 71.25. CALVES: Compared to last week, lightweight vealers closed 3.00-5.00 lower. The larger slaughter calves finished weak to 5.00 lower. Trading for Holstein bulls bound for special fed veal barns remained active this week and prices closed steady to firm. Holstein heifer prices backed off of last week's highs a bit and finished 15.00-20.00 lower.

VEALERS: Standard and Good 75-135 lbs 25.00-70.00, late mostly 30.00-60.00. Utility 60-95 lbs 10.00-35.00.

Lehigh County Roundup Moves To Allentown Fair

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — To attract additional buyers, spread the word about 4-H, and educate the community about agriculture in general, the Lehigh County 4-H Livestock Council has relocated the annual roundup.

The roundup returns to a former site, this time the Allentown Fairgrounds, on Saturday, Sept. 2, during the Allentown Fair.

In the past the roundup was conducted in September at the Schnecksville Fairgrounds. But to attract buyers and reach out to urban homeowners and businesses, the roundup has a new home.

The roundup show, to be conducted simultaneously with livestock judging events at the fair, features about 12 sheep, 40 hogs, and about a dozen steers. The roundup sale is Saturday, Sept. 2, at 3 p.m. in the Livestock Tent at Allentown Fair.

Not only will the roundup sale attract downtown buyers, but will showcase the work all year long by the 4-H members.

In the past, the Schnecksville Fairground location proved useful. But the 4-H kids put in a lot of work that the greater public just didn't see, according to sheep club leader Cheryl Bennecoff.

"It was a nice show," she said. "But there was nobody there to see it, except family and friends."

Bennecoff noted the challenges trying to get buyers to the roundup sale.

According to Steven Bruch, Lehigh County extension agent, the Allentown Fair organizers have been "supportive, and have helped us get this together," he said.

Bruch noted that several broadsheet posters and flyers have been printed. Many will be distributed at regional fairs and local businesses to advertise the roundup's new location.

4-H'ers in the county have been working hard with their petting zoo tent. Parents, leaders, and 4-H members took turns at the photo fundraiser booth at the Schnecksville Fair. They also put the petting zoo up at the Allentown Fair. The petting zoo provided information about the 4-H clubs and teaches the public about animals.

The experience at the zoo, Bennecoff said, helps 4-H members learn how to "deal with people and to educate the public about animals," she said.

Todd Bennecoff Jr., Todd Sr. and Cheryl's son, is the sheep club president. John Strawbridge, son of Donna Strawbridge, is the swine club president. Adam Rabenold, son of Tom and Donna Rabenold, is president of the beef club.

The fund-raiser at the petting zoo helps educate the public, "which is what 4-H is all about," said Cheryl.

The roundup also helps the Allentown Fair, she noted, drawing people in from around town to see the Lehigh County 4-H livestock clubs in action.

Ralph W. Zettlemoyer Auction Company has donated its services for the roundup. Buyback sponsors are Leesport Livestock Auction for beef and sheep and Leidy's Meats for the swine.

Registration for the roundup sale is scheduled during the Allentown Fair.

For more information about the roundup sale, call Steven Bruch, extension agent, at (610) 391-9840 or Todd Bennecoff Sr., Livestock Council president, at (610) 285-6582.

The Transition Dairy Cow

A. Jud Heinrichs
Dairy and Animal Science Extension

The transition period for the dairy cow is that time when she is changing her metabolism for the support of fetal and uterine tissue development along with some mammary growth to support colostrum and high levels of milk production.

Nutrient priorities must therefore change dramatically during this period. It is also a time period of having excess dietary nutrients on a relatively low level of intake as a percent of body weight, to having a nutrient deficit despite increasing levels of intake.

Being part of a working farm system, this transition period also dictates cow movement, housing, ration, and social adjustments that must take place during this time. The time period of this transition is generally considered to be three-four weeks pre-calving to three-six weeks post-calving.

Farm systems that feed all dry cows as a single group will fail in two main aspects related to these transition dry cows. The failings are that during some periods these dry cows will be

Cimarron VR & HayGrazer Alfalfas
Breeding for Higher Forage Quality
Cimarron VR and HayGrazer alfalfas provide the ultimate in high forage quality.
Larger Leaves and Finer Stems
CimarronVR and HayGrazer produce larger leaves and finer stems than other alfalfas. Larger leaves and finer stems mean more protein and higher TDN.
CimarronVR and HayGrazer produce large buds and leaves.
Better Leaf Retention
Cimarron VR and HayGrazer have better leaf retention than other varieties. Extra resistance to leaf diseases allows these varieties to hold their leaves better, both on the plant and in the windrow. So you get more leaves in every bale of hay. Break open a bale of CimarronVR or HayGrazer hay, and you will see the difference.
University Testing
Eight years of university testing ranked CimarronVR #1 in forage quality. CimarronVR produced an average 10% higher RFV (relative feed value) than the test check and out-performed all of the "HQ" and multileaf varieties. HayGrazer offers this same great forage quality with grazability.
The Bottom Line - Higher Profits
Higher quality hay will produce more milk and bring higher prices on the hay market. So you can make more money on your alfalfa hay production.

Kutztown Fair Announces Holstein Champions

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Results of the Kutztown Fair Holstein Show were released this week.

Champion of the show was a senior 2-year-old shown by Mike Davis, Leesport. Reserve was also from the same class, shown by Tricia Geist, Mertztown, also 4-H grand champion.

Davis said the judge, Ray Seidel, spoke about the 2-year-old's size, length, and well-attached udder and correct teat placement.

Davis, who has won showing other Holsteins at the fair, said this is the first time he has won with an animal he has bred himself.

FUTURES MARKETS

prices lower also This week, however, block prices recovered due to stronger supply and demand conditions. It is doubtful that barrel prices will remain at such low levels over the next few weeks

The sudden surge in cheese prices has not improved the market outlook for Class III prices. The Class III futures settlement prices at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (as of August 11) shows November Class III prices trading at $11 per cwt. The market is not expecting cheese prices (block prices) to strengthen appreciably from current levels as we enter the fall months. The Class IV milk price was $11.87 per cwt in July. The Class IV futures settlement price at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (as of August11) was $11.74 and $11.75 for October and November. Thus the market is not expecting butter prices to improve significantly from current levels through the fall months.

Grade AA butter prices remained relatively strong this week, fluctuating between $1.19 - $1.20 per pound. USDA reports that butter production is trending seasonally lower, and butterfat tests are falling. Butter prices should remain at current levels throughout the fall months, assuming demand remains strong.

A new report was released by Penn State regarding the new method USDA is using to price milk under federal order reform. The study attempted to abstract from the level of dairy commodity prices, which today are lower than they were last year. Instead, the study held these constant and focused on federal order reform The following conclusions were reached·

1 U.S. dairy farmers are more dependent than ever on dairy commodity prices for farm income. Whereas cheese prices alone used to drive farm-gate milk prices, butter, nonfat dry milk and dry whey prices are now also important.

2. The dairy price support program has taken on new meaning since federal order reform. That 92s because the new class price formulas are directly affected by the price of nonfat dry milk. This study shows farm-gate milk prices will fall significantly if the program is eliminated and nonfat dry milk prices are allowed to fall to market-clearing levels.

3. Whereas Class I, II, and IV prices are now higher under order reform when compared to the previous system, the Class III price has fallen $0.20-$0.56 per cwt due to order reform. Thus dairy producers marketing milk in federal orders that are heavily dependent on Class III sales now face lower income than those with higher Class I and II sales.

4. Federal order reform has resulted in a redistribution of income. Dairy producers in the Northeast, Appalachian, Southeast, Florida, Mideast, and Pacific Northwest have seen increases in farm milk sales. Dairy producers in the Upper Midwest, Central, and Western orders have seen a decrease in farm milk sales.

First-Year Showman Takes Championship At Lancaster 4-H Show

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Editor

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) - The youngest showman won the top prize at the Lancaster 4-H steer show last Saturday at the Manheim Fair grounds. Ryan Nolt, 8-year-old, son of Gene and Charlene Nolt, New Holland, walked away with the grand championship on his first-place 1176-pound mediumweight. This was Ryan's first year of showing and kept a family tradition alive. His sisters also have had grand champions. Sarah showed her first heifer to grand champion in 1996 and her first steer was champion in 1997. Katie had the grand champion steer last year in her second year of showing.

Reserve grand champion honors went to Katrina Frey, Quarryville, with her champion heavyweight steer weighing 1215 pounds.

In the showmanship contest, Jessica Schmidt, Drumore won the Intell calf for placing first. Daniel Fox, New Holland won the $300 check toward the purchase of a steer from Lancaster Farming as reserve showman. Daniel had previously won the Intell and was not eligible to compete again for it.

A pair of Angus heifers topped the heifer show. Katie Nolt had the grand champion and Katrina Frey had the reserve champion.

The top placings are as follows:

Market Steers, Lightweight, class 1, 1. Chris Hess; 2. Kevin Pfautz; 3. Nicole Hess.

Lightweight, class 2, 1. Daniel Fox; 2. Lisa Pfautz; 3. Kristy Garrett.

Mediumweight, class 3, 1. Sarah Zurin; 2. Sarah Henry; 3. Amy Fox.

Mediumweight class 4, 1. Ryan Nolt; 2. Loren Hershey; 3. Lindsey Howard.

Heavyweight, class 5, 1. Katrina Frey; 2. Adam Zurin; 3. Jessica Schmidt.

Heavyweight, class 6, 1. Ryan Donough; 2. Jennie Ream; 3. Sarah Nolt.

Beef Heifers, Angus, Jr. Calf, 1. Jessica Schmidt.

Jr. Yearling, 1. Katie Nolt; 2. Katrina Frey; 3. Daniel Fox.

Hereford, 1. Jimmy Zimmerman; 2. John Hess; 3. Jimmy Zimmerman.

Crossbred, 1. Sarah Nolt.

Showmanship, 16-18, 1. Jessica Schmidt; 2. Ryan Donough; 3. Lisa Pfautz.

14-15, 1. Daniel Fox; 2. Lindsey Howard; 3. Loren Hershev.

12-13, 1. Sarah Nolt; 2. Joelynn Donough; 3. Chris Hess.

8-11, 1. Katie Nolt; 2. Katrina Frey; 3. Amy Fox.

The champions at the Lancaster County 4-H steer show are from left, Katrina Frey with the reserve champion and Ryan Nolt with the champion.

Red Hogs In Spotlight At Reading Fair

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — When it came time to choose a champion, Reading Swine Show judge Dave Holloway saw only a sea of red in the show ring last week.

Nothing but Duroc purebreds or crossbreds were left to select as champion and reserve. And though Holloway admitted he raises Durocs for his company in Glen Rock, he simply thought the hogs showed excellent market representation.

Holloway said, "I recognize them. I love them."

Jared Treichler, left, exhibited the grand champion hog at Reading Fair last week. Dave Holloway was show judge.

The heavyweight champion hog shown by Jared Treichler exhibited length of body and cleanliness, noted Holloway, in "a package that's mobile and easygoing," he said.

Jared, 16, Fleetwood, son of Sandra Stump and Rodney Treichler, showed the homebred, purebred, 227-pound gilt from the medium heavyweight class.

The Fleetwood High School junior said he plans to show at Kutztown and Allentown fairs and at Farm Show.

The Berks County 4-H Swine Club member said he selected the hog at 75-80 pounds of weight. The family uses all the best quality hogs for breeding, Jared said. He's taking the champion to Kutztown.

Holloway noted the reserve, the middleweight champion shown by Lucinda Bray from the heavy middleweight class, follows the requirements of the market pretty well.

Lucinda, 18, daughter of John and Marcia Bray, Richland, exhibited a 214-pound Duroc crossbred gilt from Oscar Manbeck.

Lucinda, a graduate of Tulpehocken High School, is enrolled at Penn State to study landscape architecture.

Lucinda exhibited a champion several years ago at the fair, she said. Lucinda exhibited at Kempton Fair and is attending Kutztown and plans to exhibit at Keystone International Livestock Expo and Farm Show.

According to Manbeck, some exhibitors select pigs at 40-50 pounds, but the potential at that

3rd Lamb Skillathon A 'Ewe'th Event

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — About 46 exhibitors took the reins of 38 lambs Wednesday morning at the start of the third annual Ag Progress Days Lamb Skillathon and Live Lamb Show under the big tent.

The show included three areas — a Skillathon, which judges 4-H members on their knowledge of the overall lamb industry; a lamb type show, much like a fair judging event; and a showmanship contest.

According to Keith Bryan, Penn State instructor in animal science and coach of the livestock judging team, the Skillathon included five different areas: quality assessment and health, feeds and nutrition, meats identification, equipment identification and use, and overall management.

Bryan judged the type portion of the contest.

Judge for the showmanship portion o the event was Mike Burrell, York, former 4-H member and one-time individual high scorer at the national 4-H meats judging contest.

Handing out championship awards at the contest was Chris Herr, Pennsylvania deputy secretary of agriculture.

Handing out ribbons was Deidra Smith, Somerset County Lamb and Wool Queen. Deidra, 16, is the daughter of Dwight and Gail Smith, Berlin, and a junior at Berlin Brothersvalley High School and member of White Oak 4-H.

All champions were presented

MARSHALL
ANNUAL RYEGRASS

The Leader in Yield and Cold-Weather Tolerance!

Dairy producers report increased milk production when using Marshall Ryegrass over other winter forages. In addition, dairy & cattle producers report Marshall Ryegrass produces rich, green winter grazing much longer than other varieties – starts earlier in the fall and continues to give hearty grazing deep into spring. In Cold Weather tests from agricultural universities that included all leading annual ryegrass varieties, Marshall ranked #1 for winter hardiness in 22 out of 24 tests.

Seeding: A pasture seeder or grain drill does the best job and lets you cut the broadcast seeding rate by a third to a half. Generally, your planting should be shallow, not more than a 1/4" to 1/2". It is important to firm the seedbed with a cultipacker or seed with a pasture seeder with a cultipacker attachment.

Plant 25-30 lb. per acre.

Fertility: Fertilize and lime according to soil test recommendations.

machine. This process is similar to the method used to strip meat from the bone. Since 90 percent of the eggshell is calcium carbonate, worth 40 cents a pound, this process has proven to be valuable.

The membranes, explain Joseph MacNeil, professor emeritus of food science, are currently being worked on for extraction of collagen for medical purposes.

Paper to Mulch

Common grass seed mulching has a number of drawbacks. Straw mulch has weed seeds, dries up and blows away, is bulky and hard to store. Even a newer mulching method, hydromulching, uses large quantities of water and needs expensive equipment.

Consequently Penn State researchers asked, "What about using waste paper or paperboard for compressed mulch pellets?", and the Penn Mulch concept was born. Since paper accounted for more than 70 million tons of municipal waste in 1990, the idea has both economic and environmental benefits. The display included samples of the processed paper which was pelletized along with polymers that expand with water.

According to Jay Woodring, junior turf grass science major, this combination, then, holds seeds in place and keeps the soil moist for turf and vegetable seed germination. The mulch will then biodegrade into the soil.

Plum Pox Summarized

Herb Cole, professor of ag sciences with an expertise in plant pathology at Penn State, gave a Plum Pox virus update from the department of plant pathology.

According to Cole authorities hope to, and believe they can, eradicate the virus from the U.S. Although the virus has been around since 1915, where it was identified in Bulgaria, authorities began to identify the virus in the U.S. in October 1999. Cole estimates that the problem was around for four to five years prior to October, "But we didn't know what it was," said Cole.

Currently there is no control, or antidote, for an infected tree. The virus reduces quality of the fruit and makes the tree worthless. Cole used a "dirty needle" analogy to explain the spread of disease.

"An aphid will feed on an infected leaf and then later feed on the leaf of a healthy trees and spread the virus particles," said Cole. Fortunately the virus is not spread to an aphid's offspring, only tree to tree.

Eastern Canada, which has identified the disease north of Niagara Falls, has probably had the disease since before the U.S., said Cole.

The disease may be hard to identify as different strains of fruit produce different symptoms. The "Encore" variety of peach, for example, produce striking symptoms. According to Cole, however, only a few varieties show distinct symptoms, and these symptoms may take a long time to become visible. Also a single tree may show symptoms on only a few random branches.

Visible symptoms include pinkish streaks on flower petals, rings on the pit, yellow rings or yellow lines patterns on the fruit, and irregular or deformed fruit.

The virus is not transmissible to seeds, so the seeds from an infected tree would be considered free of infection.

"The big question is, are there Plum Pox Virus outbreaks along fences, fence rows, or weeds," said Cole. So far these potential harbors for the virus have not been identified as infected. "If there were, we would be hardpressed to eradicate it," said Cole.

Fortunately for Pennsylvania, only the "D" strain of virus has invaded the commonwealth's borders. This particular strain is less aggressive and not as easily transmissible as other varieties.

"The answer, unfortunately, is to push them out, burn them and keep after root suckers, or take a bulldozer through and eliminate all possible regrowth," said Cole.

So far in Adams County 680 acres have been razed, giving rise to a $5.1 million indemnity program for peach producers. In the entire U.S., Adams and the edge of Cumberland counties are the only areas to have Plum Pox Virus positive samples. In all 820 acres will be removed.

"It restores your faith in humanity," said Cole of working with Adams County producers. "The people in Adams County are saying, 'Yes, I may not be in business next year but I'll do whatever I have to for the common good."

Additional information on the Plum Pox Virus is available at: http:/sharka.cas.psu.edu. Besides Penn State, the department of agriculture and Canada have websites addressing the virus.

Border Collie Shepherds

Besides an occasional wolf whistle across a crowded street, whistles do not play an integral part in getting a point across in today's world. At Allan and Peg Lynch's "Lynch Mob Farm," however, whistles are an essential in everyday communication.

During Ag Progress Days the couple provided a working sheep dog demonstration for the public with several of their energetic, black-and-white Border Collies. Although Border Collies with good bloodlines are natural gatherers, explained Allan, they must be trained to follow the whistles and verbal commands used to direct the dogs.

Puppies begin their training in a small ring, when they are taught to bring the sheep to the handler. While herding sheep is instinctive, driving sheep is not and must be trained.

This training period, according to Peg, is never completed. "You're working with a Border Collie their entire life, working

(Turn to Page A30)

With the introduction of Penn Mulch, more paper waste will be diverted from landfill space. Jay Woodring, a junior turf grass science major, explains to Kenneth Mullen, Verdonia, the polymer and pelletization process which converts paper into valuable, biodegradable mulch. Woodring, who has used the mulch and is enthusiastic about the product, hopes to own his own golf course in the future.

"They're dedicated. They'll work all day if you let them," said Allan Lynch during a working sheep dog demonstration. Lynch directed "Duff" with both whistles and verbal commands to move the sheep around the ring and through narrow rails.

"Thor" is the "only son of an only son of an only son," said Myers. "Unless he gets one of his colts approved for breeding, the line stops with him," explained Susan Kuhn, who rides for the Joe and Karen Myers. The registry of the Friesan breed is extremely strict about what animals are allowed to continue the lineages.

Joseph MacNeil, professor emeritus of food science, shows Mel Rockey, left, Boalsburg, and Richard Kustin of State College a model of the eggshell/membrane separation process. With the eggshells a source of calcium carbonate and the membranes a source of collagen, the process will allow producers to "sell everything," said MacNeil. "Nothing will be left over but the water."

Good Weather And Crops Give Optimism To Ag Progress Days

Bair also urged farmers to look at their enterprises as a business as well as a way of life. "Use you position (in your community) to positive advantage," he said.

"Ag sometimes gets bad press but it offers good food and fiber at a good price to the public. We need to remind our urban neighbors of the advantage we provide to them. Producing food on less acres with technology has given more acres to open space and the natural wildlife environment."

Bair said just a two percent growth in the Pennsylvania dairy industry creates 570 new jobs. A lot of the wealth of the nation is dependent on agriculture.

At the Government/Industry Day luncheon on Wednesday, Lt. Gov. Mark Schweiker said that what agriculture represents is remarkable. "Pennsylvania agriculture is so strong and optimistic it is known around the world," he said. "Pennsylvania agriculture has a marvelous reputation for productivity around the world.In many parts of the world they loose half of what they produce in the transportation system. Ag progresss is not only about exhibits, food, and fellowship. It is crystal clear this State has what it takes to stay on the leading of technology."

Orion Samuelson, syndicated National Farm Report and U.S. Farm Report columnist and TV reporter, was the guest speaker. He said we know how to produce. Now we need to know how to market.

The Dairy of Distinction winners gathered on the barn hill at Ag Progress Days for this photograph. The annual awards ceremony at the event traditionally ends with a group photo. Photo by Everett Newswanger, editor

"We produce enough in this country that we need to sell half of it outside the country," he said.

With a milk toast to the crowd that filled the special events building, Samuelson said (tongue in cheek) "Milk was the only drink decent enough to turn sour when it is no longer fit to drink."

On the subject of the farm advantage in this country, he said "No matter how hard it gets, you don't want to trade places with farmers in any other country."

Samuelson has traveled internationally and has received the National 4-H Alumni Award, and the Honorary FFA American Farmer Degree.

Officials were calling the crowds that came to Ag Progress this week the largest in memory.

with their skills," said. The couple's home farm hosts more than 100 sheep.

"A Border Collie can replace five people on a sheep operation," said Allan. "Out West, it's not unusual to see four or five dogs working a flock together." Dogs may be as young as 1 or as old as 13 to be in training or work the flock.

While the couple works together on the farm, their dogs show a loyalty for either Allan or Peg.

"The dogs will listen to both of us, but my dogs won't work for him (Allan) when I'm in sight," said Peg. "That's the bond that you have. You have to earn that trust and respect. Once you gain that, they just won't quit working."

Stacy Cromer, watershed circuit rider, demonstrates to Zech Hoffman, 9, and Michelle and Noah Hoffman, 2, from Port Matilda how soil erosion in response to human activities. Crushed walnut shells act as soil for the exhibit, which is complete with vegetation and riprap, or stones, on the bank which illustrate protection.

"The stream naturally meanders," said Cromer. When bulldozers get in and try to straight it out, it causes erosion as the speed of the water increases when the natural curves are eliminated. Cromer also builds debris jams and dams with sticks to illustrate their impact on stream move-

In The Horse Ring

A forum showcasing agriculture would not be complete without a horse ring, a prominent place at Ag Progress Days. Brian Egan, horse program assistant for Penn State Cooperative Extension, conducted a horse-handling demonstration.

The audience had the opportunity to watch training techniques in action as Egan put a skittish 2-year-old through its paces. According to Egan, who spent his free time during his college years watching horses play, there exists a strong social order among horses. He applied his own observations by ensuring that his horses know that he is the dominant member of the social order. "A horse is not a lap animal," emphasized Egan.

As Egan backed the horse quickly across the ring, he explained that he uses the technique for "major sin" such as biting and kicking. "Backing is hard to do for horses," said Egan, which makes the skill is useful in teaching horses what behavior is unacceptable.

"Knowing how a horse is basically made helps us to know how to handle them. They're basically lazy," said Egan. Pointing out the glimmer of sweat on the horse, Egan said, "Right now he's more concerned about his next breath than the saddle, or how he's going to misbehave."

"We work with them an awful lot to get them to the point that they follow our feet," said Egan, who also demonstrated how pressure on a particular part of a horse's body will get the animal to move, enabling the handler to easily direct the movement of the horse.

The young horses are ridden first in a 12 by 12 foot box stall with high ceilings, then in a hallway before going to the ag arena. According to Egan a confined space limits a horse's action and tends to keep them calmer.

Classic Carriage Horses

"They're extremely strict about what Friesans are allowed to breed," said Joe Myers of Joekar's Hilltop Farm during the Friesan breed clinic. The animals are ridden, jumped, and driven during a 50-day performance test, explained Myers. Recently, out of 806 horses put through the test, 6 were approved for Friesan breeding purposes. Disposition is also key to acceptance to the registry. If a horse exhibits bad temper during the test it is excluded from breeding.

"They're a kind, gentle, giving animal that is easily broken," said Myers. "They're very much a people horse. This isn't a horse you can just leave in the barn and go see once a week."

Basically a carriage horse, the breed is also used for dressage. The horses are shown natural and untrimmed. "If a European judges see that the horse is trimmed they think the exhibitor is trying to hide something and they become extremely critical," said Myers. For example, "They'll make the exhibitor pull shoes so they (the judges) can examine and measure the hooves."

Small-Scale Manure Management Solutions Meeting Sept. 13

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. — Do you have just a few animals, but are asking yourself, "What do I do with all this manure?"

Attend a meeting Wednesday, Sept. 13, for "Waste Management" Options for Small-Scale Livestock Owners" to hear about some of your options.

This educational meeting is scheduled from 6 p.m.-8 p.m. at the Central Maryland Research and Education Center, Ellicott City.

The meeting will focus on composting animal manure. This technique, when done properly, can make manure easier to handle and can stabilize the nutrients in the manure.

Visitors will learn how to compost and about different composting methods. On-farm demonstrations will let everyone see how these methods work and what the results are.

Cost for the meeting is $4 for those who preregister by Sept. 12 and $6 the day of the meeting. Those who preregister will be eligible to win a free composting starter kit.

The meeting is sponsored by the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station, Maryland Cooperative Extension, Maryland Horse Council, Howard Soil Conservation District, and Natural Resource Conservation Service. For more information or to preregister, call Caragh Fitzgerald at the Howard County Extension office at (410) 313-2707.

4-H Holds "Extravaganza" at Manheim Fairgrounds

MICHELLE RANCK
Lancaster Farming Staff

Recently area 4-H'ers converged on Manheim fairgrounds to showcase their livestock, cooking, sewing, weaving, braiding, drawing, or scrapbooking talents.

Lancaster livestock extension agent Chet Hughes estimates that participation in 4-H livestock clubs has remained consistent over the past five years. The swine club tops the list with 102 participants in the club, with more than 60 club members participating in the Extravaganza. The dairy beef show also grew from more than 20 4-H'ers last year to about 40 participants this year.

Cody Andrews, 9, son of Randy and Christine Andrews of Willow Street, began his career in the beef ring by taking home grand champion honors with "Buddy."

Even though the Andrews farm boasts hogs and chickens, "Cody decided he wanted to do it, so we decided, 'Let's try it,'" said Christine. "He was really dedicated, he walked and brushed Buddy almost every day. Buddy was also a nice calf to begin with and he didn't have any setbacks," added Christine.

This year marks the second year for the club, but the first year the animals were not only shown but also sold at the Extravaganza. Last year the animals were sold at the Manheim fair.

The 4-H goat show continues to increase in both number of participants and higher quality of animals.

"This is the first show I ever judged," said Deneise Goss, who owns "Red Gate Farms" in Palmyra with her husband. The couple not only owns a herd of dairy goats but producers their own ice cream, milk, and cheese for a growing market.

Although the business keeps Goss busy, she found time to judge the recent 4-H livestock dairy goats. "I liked it. I knew the kids, since our own kids used to be in 4-H. It was really nice to see how the kids have really progressed as far as the animals they have, and how to grow them out," said Goss. The meat goats, said Goss, have a good market outside of the shows, which makes them ideal for 4-H'ers.

Dr. Robert Herr judged both the dairy beef and market goat shows. "The Manheim area is getting a really good reputation in the market goat area," said Goss. "There are good competitive goats here that will make super prospects to develop out." Lancaster, said Herr, is a leading area for meat goats on the Eastern seaboard.

A senior at Elizabethtown this year, Nathan Eisenhower, 17, took "Samantha" and "Bubba" to supreme champion honors for both the doe and buck divisions in the breeding goat show.

Bubba proved to be a drawing card during the Extravaganza. "While we were washing him, people kept coming up to us and saying, 'Is that a baby bison?'" said Eisenhower. Mandy Grube, left, with Samantha, also took home several goat show honors in the 4-H event.

Jessica Schmidt, 18, won champion showman in the sheep ring, with Tiffany Dean reserve showman.

Nathan Eisenhower, 17, took "Samantha" and "Bubba" to supreme champion honors for both the doe and buck divisions in the breeding goat show. Eisenhower picked the animals from the more than 70 goats at his home farm.

The 4-H fair was only the beginning of the fair circuit for Eisenhower, who will take his animals to Manheim, Elizabethtown, and Ephrata fairs. He also plans to attend the farm show, where he is an 8-year veteran.

Rachel Keener, from Mount Joy, picked her goat from six goats on her home farm. This winner is one of twins, both of which Keener took to the show ring in Manheim. She has three years of experience in showing goats.

Penn State shepherd Dick Kuzemchak picked the winners of the sheep shows.

Tiffany Dean, 14, picked "Keanu," named for the Hollywood star, because of his stylish, large frame out of her eight sheep at home. "Keanu" rose to the top for Dean as he won grand champion honors in the market lamb competition. Dean, who has six years of experience in 4-H, looks forward to competing again next year.

The reserve grand champion spot went to Sarah Boyd, 19, and "Dino." A sophomore elementary education major at Millersville University, Boyd participated in her eleventh and last year in 4-H.

Jimmy Zimmerman, 16, a junior at Ephrata High School, won the supreme champion spot in the breeding sheep show with "Jessi." Zimmerman, who has seven years of experience in 4-H, is looking forward to participating next year also.

Jessica Schmidt, a recent graduate of Solanco High School, won champion showman. Schmidt plans to attend Penn State York campus to study animal science. Tiffany Dean was reserve showman in the competition.

During his first stint in the beef ring Cody Andrews, grand champion dairy beef winner, learned many valuable lessons about showing cattle. Perhaps the most unforgettable lesson Andrews took away from the experience is the proper height to hang the ribbon above the calf in the fair stall. "Buddy" ate the ribbons off his new grand champion rosette.

Rachel Keener, left, took home supreme champion market goat honors and Nathan Eisenhower the reserve champion market goat placing. According to judge Herr a brightly-colored goat such as Keener's animal will catch the eye of goat buyers and thus be easily marketable.

Question: At harvest time we had the opportunity to buy wheat at an unheard of low price. My vet and feed person both said wheat would be a good way to stretch my high moisture corn that usually runs out before next year's harvest. We made the transition over a two-week period and yet our cows dropped in production immediately and have yet to come back to where they were before the change. My milk drop resulted in almost $4000.00 less milk sold over the wheat-feeding period. This cheap wheat doesn't seem so cheap to me now.

Wheat used in dairy cattle should be a very available source of energy mostly as a starch carbohydrate. What took place at this farm can lead to a lot of frustration to not only the dairyman who has lost the chance to make some cheaper milk due to smart purchasing of a very good feed, but also to his feed advisors that feel a little bit responsible for the lack of success in attaining the goal of cutting cost without sacrificing production. Assigning or assuming blame in most cases accomplishes nothing but the chance to avoid such failures in the future can be of real benefit

Lucky for us, trying to solve this mystery of less than desirable performance, we have some very good tools to work with both on a chemical and physical level Looking at some physical properties of the cow we can shed some light on what has probably happened here At some point in problem solving we need to stand back and look at what is too easy, too simple, too absurd to even consider Manure is the answer! You have to make light a little about a subject like manure Seriously, the knowledge that we can gain by making a habit of studying the manure of our cows can go a long way in avoiding problems such as milk production loses when we make feeding changes The first clue that something was going wrong when the wheat was fed was bits and pieces of wheat grain coming through in the manure This unused portion of the feed that the cow was supposed to perform on was only fertilizing the fields that is was spread on Grains used for carbohydrates in a cow's diet must be made available to her Accomplish this by processing all grains physically, chemically, or a combination of the two. Seed grains like wheat and corn have a protective shell around them that can inhibit microbial breakdown in the rumen and pass undigested out into manure. Grind these types of grains fine to get the most from them In the high producing cow we must allow her every opportunity to digest her diet quickly because of the large amount of feed that moves in and out of her digestive system at a very rapid rate daily Chemically altered grain like high moisture, steamed flaked, and soda treated has already made these grains one step or two closer to being digested and therefore need less physical preparation

The next tool that this farm had at its disposal is a little more sophisticated than scoring manure and when used extensively can provide monthly feedback data about how we can best balance and deliver diets to our cows Milk component analysis provides us with vital information concerning the nutrient needs of the dairy cow MUN, which is used on about 33% of PA DHIA member's farms, is the one component that has the best potential in solving the type of problem in today's question Research and data base studies have coupled MUN output with protein utilization in the diet of the dairy cow The diet in this particular herd maintained the same %CP, %UIP, %DIP, %NSC, and %DM even though wheat was now being utilized in replacement of some high moisture corn The herd remained reasonably constant at 13 7 MUN from the first of the year on with a slight climb in May to 15.1. Within three weeks of making the change to include wheat in the diet the herd MUN raised to18.4. Protein totals and portions remained the same but the NSC portion available to the cow dropped. The diet was balanced for the same level of the cow could actually use was altered With MUN analysis done on a monthly basis we can quickly make changes to the diet makeup, diet delivery, or a combination of the two The cows tell us what is going on by component evaluation We can then better predict the outcome of feeding management changes What we can measure we can manage, and what we manage we hope to control

This is a very typical way in which we can combine good tools that we have at our disposal. The best tool is the good "cow sense" that many dairyman use on a day-to-day basis Developing techniques such as manure scoring goes along with what is already known to encourage looking from a different perspective MUN testing and analysis is a perfect fit to take that "cow sense" and knowledge to the next level This is what today's dairying is all about regardless of size or scale

The last thing I asked this dairyman, which also happens to be a friend of mine, was why they didn't ask someone about the big MUN change sooner They didn't want to sound stupid That's the only part of the whole situation that seems near stupid to me

Looking forward to questions from you

Stacey's 'Floppy' Captures Kutztown Market Hog Trophy

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — "Floppy," a 234-crossbred market hog, caught the eye of Kutztown Swine Show judge Brian Kreider, Lebanon, Tuesday afternoon here at the Kutztown Fair.

Exhibitor Stacey Manbeck exhibited the heavyweight champion hog, which went on to win grand champion market hog at the fair.

Daughter of Karen and Norman Manbeck, Womelsdorf, Stacey captured supreme champion for the first time at the fair. She is in the fifth grade at Tulpehocken Elementary and plans to exhibit at Farm Show.

Lucinda Bray, who won reserve champion hog at the recent Reading Fair, showed a littermate of the Reading champion, a Duroc crossbred gilt and heavyweight reserve at Kutztown, to reserve overall champion.

Lucinda, 18, daughter of John and Marcia Bray, Richland, is a 2000 graduate of Tulpehocken High School. She's a freshman at Penn State, majoring in landscape architecture.

Lucinda's reserve champion was a 247-pound reserve champion heavyweight. At the recent Reading Fair, the Duroc gilt placed first in class, but didn't capture grand champion.

Lucinda, who obtained the hog from Oscar Manbeck, Bethel, said she loves red hogs and plans to show at the Keystone International Livestock Expo and Farm Show.

Supreme champion of the breeds was a Duroc shown by Todd Bennecoff Jr., 12, son of Cheryl and Todd Bennecoff, Kutztown.

Following is a list of show placings.

Crop Reporting Deadline Extended Through September 1, 2000

The Lancaster County Farm Service Agency will be accepting acreage reports for all crops through September 1. This extension applies only to Lancaster County for the year 2000. Farmers can report their crops without paying late fees in order to qualify for certain subsidy payments such as Loan Deficiency payments. Reports will be accepted after September 1 with a filing fee. Refunds will be made to those who already paid the fee.

Lancaster County Selects Roundup Champions

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Lisa Pfautz, Lititz, won grand champion market hog at the recent Lancaster County 4-H Roundup.

Kurt Good, representing Hatfield Quality Meats, purchased the 258-pound champion light heavyweight for $2 per pound.

Lisa also was reserve champion showman.

Reserve champion was the 265-pound champion heavyweight hog shown by Joelynn Donough and purchased by Leidy's Inc. for $1.50 per pound.

Champion goat, exhibited by Amanda Grube, sold to Ken Lewis of MidAtlantic Farm Credit for$1.40 per pound.

According to Chet Hughes, Lancaster livestock agent, the sale included 108 hogs, 13 dairy beef, and four market goats. The sale grossed $24,507 with 28 buyers.

Amy Becker donated proceeds from her hog, purchased y Lloyd Hoover and Family, Leola, for $227 to the Mennonite Disaster Relief Fund for agricultural disasters in honor of Ezra Good, long-time 4-H supporter who passed away recently.

Also, Mylin Good, former 4-H Beef Club leader, purchased a hog and resold it to benefit the 4-H Goat Club by John M. Hess Auction Service.

Transition Dairy Cow

overfed and at other periods these cows will be under fed.

If the dry cow group is fed for the far-off cows to maintain their body condition, then the transition cows, those two-four weeks from calving will lose condition. A loss in body condition in these cows means a loss of weight, which is body fat, and protein.

Both body fat and protein loss in a transition cow pre-calving will predispose these animals to a variety of metabolic diseases including ketosis, milk fever, fatty liver, and downer cow syndrome.

On the other hand, if the dry cow group is fed to support the nutrient needs of the transition cows; than the far-off dry cows will get fat. This will put excess condition on these cows, tend to reduce their rumen-fill and the combination will again produce a variety of metabolic diseases including displace abomasums and ketosis.

Fetal development during the last two months of the dry period presents a great nutrient demand on the dry cow. Over 60 percent of the fetal growth occurs during the last two months of the dry period along with development of the placental fluids and the placenta.

The protein requirements of the dry cow increases by nearly four times from the beginning of the dry period to the end. This amount is roughly 100 grams per day at the beginning of the dry period to 350 grams per day at the end. The energy requirements in terms of calories increases by nearly three times during this same period.

The bottom line is that you need two dry cow rations, one for the dry cows and one for the dry cows that are part of the transition cow group.

Progress Makers

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Seeking information, entertainment, fun and food, thousands swarmed the grounds at Penn State's Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center during Ag Progress Days.

They were not disappointed.

"I'm thoroughly enjoying this," said Nancy Witmer of Manheim.

She was one of the visitors who wanted to know more about the West Nile disease spread by mosquitoes. She found a workshop on insect borne diseases intriguing.

Some farmers attend to see and hear about the latest machinery and crop advances. Children climb over the tractors, collect stickers, balloons, and other freebies, admire the animals in the petting zoo and wildlife workshops, and participant in many of the games and activities held in the Family Room.

For many families, Ag Progress Days is an annual trek. Stanley and Julie King, Belleville dairy farmers, said they come every year. So do Michael and Melody Fogal.

Aaron and Virginia Zimmerman said that it was the first time they attended the event since they were married. Aaron wanted to talk with all the seed people, but they found so many other events interesting to themselves and their children, Heather, 5, Monica, 3, and Conrad, 2.

Of course with so many activities and exhibits, it takes hundreds of people to work at the booths and workshops. But the exhibitors seem to enjoy it as much as the visitors.

While Dale Schnupp, Lebanon, stayed with the booth, his wife Velma accompanied her grandchildren and daughter Lisa and husband Dalton Weber around the grounds.

The three-day event, which ran Tuesday through Thursday, offered workshops on health, food, gardening, landscaping, inventions, and innovations show people how to integrate new findings into their everyday lifestyles. Informational tours on woodlot management, nutrient management, and streambank conservation gave visitors a chance to view the research being carried out throughout the year.

The family center is packed with fun activities for children and adults to learn how to eat for better health.

Not all classes were taught by adults. Second-grader Tara Fisher helped her mom Susan teach a Kids in the Kitchen workshop. The audience could participate in "shaking themselves silly" to make ice cream in the bag and yogurt pudding.

"Children can learn early in life that cooking is fun. It teaches them lifeskills and helps them with math and science," Susan said.

Numerous games and activities provided educational knowledge with lots of laughs. Prizes were given to those who found the right answers by searching for clues in a treasure hunt held in the Family Room.

Farm safety is always a concern for farm families. Many accidents can be avoided by taking the proper precautions. The Women's Auxillary of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau set up a miniature farm display. Those who found the 17 hazards received a prize depending on their ages. Some of the prizes were sunglasses, earplugs, and coloring books. Their names were also entered in a drawing for a smoke detector.

Connie Teel, safety chairman, said that 40 percent of reported farm injuries happen to women.

Women, she said, do a lot of the barn work, making them

Nancy Witmer, Manheim, said workshops on insect-borne diseases and flower arranging were fascinating.

The youngest fair visitor was possibly three-week-old Logan held by his mother Kimberly Mowl while his dad was checking out equipment for the couple's Washington farm.

Belleville dairy farmers Stanley and Julie King with daughters, Jennifer, 8; Joella, 6; and Janita, 5, visit Ag Progress every year.

A newly-hatched chick fascinates Carlin Lehman, 1½ years, son of Daryl and Lucinda of Snyder County.

Green ketchup. Green KETCHUP, for crying out loud!

"Did you get your green ketchup yet?," joked my mom last week, during a quick family lunch on the deck one lovely afternoon last week.

We like to think we embrace most new ideas pretty quickly here. Green ketchup (or catsup, or whatever the spelling you're accustomed to of this tomato-based condiment) is the H.J. Heinz food company's latest innovative condiment creation to hit the supermarket shelves.

Or so we've read. None of us around here has actually seen any of it yet, so maybe it's just a marketing idea that was being floated in a sort of consumer trial balloon.

Green ketchup isn't aimed, though, at the taste of adults. This dramatic color change is targeted to kids, consumers who thrive on stuff that looks somewhat gross to adults. And, green ketchup might cause some reaction of that nature. Not because it looks or tastes or functions any differently, just because we veteran condiment users have this mental image of ketchup as a thick, reddish substance which hangs up in the bottom on the container.

Imagine french fries topped with a dollop of green. Or, a hot dog sporting squiggles of green catsup. (Hot dogs served with green ketchup and yellow mustard should play well at next winter's John Deere days open house events at area dealerships.)

So, how about orange pickle relish to go with that? And purple onions, which God has already created all by Himself with no need for help from food marketers, thank you very much.

Or maybe even yellow ketchup, to compete with the attention of the mustard set? That should be easy, given that yellow tomatoes — the base source product of ketchup makings — already come in a variety of yellow shades. (I have oodles of tiny little ones in the garden; anyone wishing to try this, they're yours for the picking).

Actually, there are also orange tomatoes, and cream-colored tomatoes, and if you got to mixing all the potential shades together, you could almost have a rainbow of ketchup colors. If properly packaged — like those pens that write a bunch of colors at the same time — you could theoretically stripe your cheeseburger with a rainbow of ketchup at one swipe.

The possibilities are just mind boggling.

But if the sacred cow of red ketchup has gone by the wayside, why not look at a redo of some other familiar foods.

One of the seed catalogs that arrives every winter advertises blue potato seedstock. Together now, let's visualize the color of potato chips fried from blue potatoes. Topped with green ketchup, of course.

They'd probably turn the same shade of purple as the blue corn tortilla chips you can occasionally find in the supermarkets. First time I ever saw those was during a camping trip grocery-restocking stop in an Idaho supermarket. Our grown-up kids poked fun at me for getting them, but scarfed down the entire bagfull in short order.

We're almost making pigs of ourselves on the fresh sweet corn of the season, one of our very favorite August foods. Meanwhile, a small planting of Indian corn at the corner of the garden towers over my head, planted especially for the grandsons.

Wouldn't it be neat to have multi-colored Indian-sweet corn to plop on the grill in its husk and munch dripping with butter? That'd definitely get your guests' attention.

You could dazzle your friends with a summertime spread of picnic favorites, hot dogs and hamburgs lathered with green ketchup, red-speckled-and-striped corn-on-the-cob, purple potato chips, and for dessert, slices of crispy-sweet yellow watermelon (which we are harvesting and eating as we speak).

All served up beside the sparkling waters of your pink swimming pool.

Bon appetite.

Dry Tomatoes?

According to Martha Filipic of Ohio extension, you can dry garden tomatoes.

The best tomatoes to use are the meaty type, such as Roma tomatoes. From 14 pounds of fresh tomatoes, you can expect to end up with about a half-pound of dried tomatoes, or 2.5 to 3 pints.

Use fully ripe tomatoes, and cut away any bruised spots before beginning the process.

As with any vegetable, picking a tomato off the vine activates certain enzymes that causes changes in color, flavor, texture, sugars and nutrients. So, its always best to process tomatoes as quickly as possible after being harvested.

Before you begin the drying process, pretreat the tomato by rinsing it off and dipping it in boiling water for one minute. Peel the tomato and remove the stem end. Cut the tomato in slices from an eighth to a half of an inch thick. With Roma tomatoes, you can also just cut them down the middle.

A food dehydrator is the best appliance to use to dry tomatoes — follow the manufacturers directions. Drying in the oven is possible, too. Use the lowest oven setting possible, about 140 degrees. Once it's preheated, leave the oven door open a few inches, with a fan blowing across the opening to assure good air circulation and to allow moist air to escape. Adjust the temperature setting and use an oven thermometer to be sure the oven remains at about 140 degrees.

Place the tomatoes on a cookie tray or put them on a cooling rack that's set on top of a tray. They should be dried for several hours, perhaps as many as 10 hours, depending on the thickness of the slice and the moisture content of the tomato. They'll be crisp when they're done. Watch carefully, as they can scorch easily near the end of the drying time. Store the dried tomatoes in an enclosed container in a cool, dry dark place.

To make dried tomatoes in olive oil, cut Roma tomatoes in half and dry them until they've shrunk to about one-quarter their original size, are dark red, shriveled and dry but not hard. Let them cool for an hour, then pack into jars and cover with olive oil. Let the tomatoes marinate at least six weeks before using. These tomatoes must be refrigerated, because the combination of fruit and oil in an airtight container could cause botulism. Remember, the tomatoes must be dry and the tomato mixture must be refrigerated to ensure this product is safe.

Tour Trial Gardens

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co) — Backyard gardeners, gourmets, and any person with an interest in vegetables can find out how to produce, cook, and serve great produce by attending Penn State's All-American Selection Vegetable Tour, Aug. 24. The Penn State Trial Gardens, corner of Bigler Road and Park Avenue, University Park, are test plots for new vegetable varieties to see if they are reliable, vigorous, productive, and show distinct improvements over other varieties in use.

Participants will get a chance to tour, sample and photograph vegetables, ask questions. A $25 registration fee includes materials and catered lunch. For more information, call Peter Ferretti at (814) 863-2313.

Home Dry Cleaning Kits — Do They Work?

Dry cleaning products are becoming more and more popular as consumers seek the convenience and cost savings of doing dry cleaning at home.

Now that they have been on the market for awhile, what's the score?

According to Maytag, the primary benefit of using these kits is for freshening dry-cleaning-only garments in home automatic dryers. The kits may remove some stains from garments. Professional dry cleaners have stain removal tools for a wider variety of stains.

How they work: After a colorfastness test, treat spots with the special stain removal solution. Once the stain is treated, the garment is ready to be freshened. This is done in a specially designed dryer bag and a pre-moistened dryer-activated cloth. More than one garment can be treated. The bag goes into the dryer. The bag protects the garments from heat while releasing moisture from the cloth to freshen the garments. After the end of the recommended time, remove garments from the bag and hang immediately.

Pitfalls: If crisp creases in pants, skirts, or shirts are important, home dry cleaning is not a good alternative. Some fabrics such as silk or rayon can develop water rings when used with the home dry cleaning kits. (These rings can be removed in some instances.)

Home dry cleaning kits are not recommended for use with leather, velvet, suede, or fur.

Mushrooms

Fresh mushrooms are mushrooming in popularity.

Try them raw and they can be baked, broiled, breaded, filled or sauteed. Raw, fresh mushrooms are prepared for serving the same as mushrooms used in cooked dishes. Rinse, use a colander or strainer and blot dry with a paper towel. If stem appears dry, slice a thin strip from the tip.

Mushrooms are versatile and lend themselves to many different menu preparations.

For vegetable medleys: Use in combination with peas, onions, carrots, potatoes, snap beans, and tomatoes.

For a light supper: Arrange a bed of sauteed fresh mushrooms and onion slices in a shallow casserole, cover with tomato sauce, sprinkle with parmesan cheese and broil until bubbly.

For a salad: To chilled lettuce leaves, add halved fresh mushrooms, thinly sliced onion rings, freshly sectioned oranges and toss with a light oil and vinegar dressing.

For stuffing mushrooms: Use the classic bread crumbs, add your favorite finely chopped meat, fresh vegetable, seafood, cheese, egg mixture, nut filling or season with herbs and spices.

CHEESE SHIITAKE OMELETTE

2 ounces large shiitake mushrooms
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 small onion, finely chopped
⅔ cup cottage cheese
4 eggs
¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper

Remove stems and discard. Cut mushroom caps into slices. Melt butter in skillet over medium high heat; add mushrooms and onion, and cook stirring constantly, until tender. Transfer to a bowl, and stir in the cottage cheese. Clean skillet. Combine eggs and pepper. Beat lightly with a fork. Melt remaining 1 tablespoon of butter and coat the bottom of the pan. Add egg mixture.

As mixture starts to cook, gently lift edges with spatula. and tilt the pan so uncooked portion flows underneath.

Spoon mushroom mixture onto omelet; fold in half and place on serving plate. Two servings.

MUSHROOM BAKED SOLE

1 medium onion, finely chopped
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 teaspoon margarine
1½ pounds sole fillets
freshly ground black pepper
½ cup skim milk
1 tablespoon flour
paprika

Saute onion, parsley and mushrooms in 1 teaspoon of margarine, stirring constantly until onion is soft. Place half of fillets in a greased baking dish. Sprinkle lightly with pepper and spread sauteed mixture evenly over fish. Top with remaining fillets and season with pepper.

Bake 350 degrees F. uncovered, for 15 minutes.

Remove from oven and drain, reserving the pan liquid. In a small saucepan, combine flour and milk. Add the reserved pan liquid, and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Pour over the fish and bake five minutes longer. Sprinkle with paprika and parsley. Six Servings. Try these ideas and to continue your use of mushrooms in your favorite dishes.

Plan to visit the Mushroom Festival September 8-10 in Kennett Square, Pa.

Family Is Focus Of Talk At Farm Science Review

LONDON, Ohio- "Today's families just aren't the same as they used to be." It's a refrain heard over and over, accompanied by a shaking of the head and a response of "It's a shame."

But has the family changed all that much? The myths and realities of today's families is the topic of a presentation scheduled for the first morning of this year's Farm Science Review, Sept. 19-21, near London, Ohio.

"Families: Now and Then" is the topic of the 10:30 a.m. talk to be given by Ohio State University Extension family and consumer science agents Laura Stanton, Butler County; Jenny Nickol, Hamilton County; and Annie King, Clermont County.

"One myth is that kids today are more likely to live in single-parent households than they were maybe 100 years ago," Stanton said. "But in the early 1900s, single-parent households weren't all that uncommon. It was more due to the death of a parent than to divorce, but there were a lot of single-parent households back then."

Another myth is that three-generation families occupying the same home in the style of "The Waltons" was an advantageous lifestyle that previous generations enjoyed.

"But there's no evidence that extended families were ever the norm in America," Stanton said.

Many of today's myths about the family can be traced to family life depicted on television shows, Stanton said. "Our feelings about what the family should be like is more based on "Leave it to Beaver' than on anything based in reality," she said. "It's surprising how lasting those images are." That's why she, Nickol and King are conducting the program at Farm Science Review. Accompanying the Tuesday morning program will be an exhibit on the family that will be on display for all three days of the Review.

Tickets for the Farm Science Review are available from county offices of Ohio State University Extension and from local agribusinesses. Tickets are $4 in advance and $6 at the gate. Children 5 and younger are admitted free. Review hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday.

Farmer Ingenuity

What can't a farmer fix with Coca-Cola and Bounce dryer sheets? Here are some often-used solutions from the U.S. Dept. of Ag. Coca-Cola will:

• Clean stains from the milkhouse toilet. Pour a can into the toilet and let sit for one-hour, then flush. It works better on porcelain, although we don't know that this has any application to false teeth.

• Remove rust spots. Dip crumpled-up aluminum foil in Coke and scrub away the rust.

• Loosen stubborn bolts. Soak a rag in Coke, apply to the bolt for a few minutes.

• Help remove grease in clothes. Pour a can onto the greasy spots, put in the washer on regular cycle.

Bounce dryer sheets will:

• Repel mosquitoes. Tuck one in your belt loop. Fashion-conscious farmers can choose a brand of dryer sheet that's color-coordinated with their farm clothes.

• Freshen the air in farm trucks. Put one beneath the seat where nobody can see it, thus avoiding potentially embarrassing questions from passengers.

• Collect dog and cat hair. Static cling allows dryer sheets to remove pet hair from your favorite seed company jacket.

• Deodorize boots. Put a dryer sheet into each boot, leave overnight. It might not hurt to leave the sheet in there when you put your boots on the next morning, too!

RADISH RELISH

1 quart ground radishes
1 pint ground onion
1½ tablespoon celery seed
1½ tablespoon mustard seed
½ cup sugar or slightly less
1 tablespoon salt
Cider vinegar

Combine all ingredients and cover with strong cider vinegar. Cook slowly 45 minutes or until done. Pour into sterilized glass jars while hot and seal.

Red, yellow or white onions can be uses as well as white or red radishes.

CORN RELISH

½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon turmeric
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup cider vinegar
1 teaspoon celery seed
16-ounce can whole kernel corn, drained
½ cup onion, chopped medium fine
2 cups green cabbage finely shredded, packed down
1 large green pepper, chopped medium fine
1 large red pepper, chopped medium fine

Into a 3-quart saucepan, stir together sugar, flour, salt, turmeric, and mustard. Gradually stir in vinegar, keeping mixture smooth. Add celery seed, corn, onion, cabbage, green and red pepper. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until cabbage wilts and sauce thickens and boils. Let it bubble gently about 5 minutes. Makes about 4½ cups. Store in refrigerator.

Pennsylvania Produce Looking Good

Peppers add zest to all sorts of recipes. And Pennsylvania vegetable growers grow over 1,000 acres of them to add a bit of extra flavor to pizza, salads, stir-frys, omelets, sauces, and numerous other dishes. Growers are reporting good yields of high quality peppers due to the generally favorable growing conditions this year.

About 90 percent of the acreage in Pennsylvania is planted in sweet bell peppers. Less than 10 percent is devoted to the hotter varieties. Sweet bell peppers are usually sold in the mature green stage. However, if green peppers are left on the plant to fully mature, they will turn color. Most varieties will turn red but some turn brilliant shades of yellow or orange while others become purple.

As they turn color, their sugar content increases along with their vitamin C content. Green peppers have twice as much vitamin C as oranges by weight while red peppers have three times as much plus beta carotene. Hot peppers are also high in vitamin C.

While the familiar blocky bell peppers are the most common sweet pepper, there are several other kinds that are classified as sweet peppers but that have a stronger flavor than bell peppers. This extra flavor makes them excellent additions to various dishes. Among these varieties are cubanelle, banana and pimento peppers.

There are many kinds of hot peppers grown. Probably the most common ones grown in Pennsylvania are Hungarian wax, jalapeno, cherry and cayenne. Capsaicin, the substance that makes peppers hot, is extremely pungent in its pure state. Capsaicin and related compounds are concentrated in the placenta of the pepper — the white ribs inside the pepper that hold the seeds. Thus much of the heat of peppers can be removed if this part is cut out. It is important to wear rubber gloves or repeatedly wash one's hands while doing this to protect them. Be especially careful not touch the face or eyes during the process.

Besides adding flavor to the diet, sweet peppers can be eaten quantities sufficient to supply significant quantities of vitamin C to the diet and help fulfill the recommended three to five servings of vegetables per day recommended by nutrition experts. The following recipe from The American Cancer Society Cookbook is a tasty way to incorporate peppers and their cousins, tomatoes, into the diet.

STUFFED BABY PEPPERS WITH TOMATO-BASIL SAUCE

Tiny sweet peppers are available in specialty grocery stores (or many farm markets on request). For a truly attractive dish, use a variety of colors. If the tiny ones are not available, substitute regular-size ones.

24 baby red, green, yellow, or purple peppers (or 12 medium)
¼ pound medium ground beef
1 onion, finely chopped
2 cups cooked rice (made from 1 cup raw)
1½ cups drained canned or chopped fresh tomatoes
½ cup tomato sauce (or ½ cup catsup or ¼ cup each water and tomato paste mixed)
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups Tomato-Basil Sauce (see below)

Slice top off each pepper; chop tops and save to add to filling. Remove core, seeds, and white membranes from peppers. Blanch peppers in boiling water for three minutes; drain and set aside.

In large skillet or heavy saucepan, cook beef, onion and chopped pepper until beef is browned and onions are tender. Drain off any fat. Stir in rice, tomatoes, tomato sauce, Worcestershire, and salt; simmer for two minutes. Spoon meat mixture into peppers. (Recipe may be prepared ahead to this point and refrigerated or frozen.) Bake in 350 degree F oven for 20 minutes or until hot. Serve with Tomato-Basil Sauce to spoon over (or sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese or part skim mozzarella cheese before baking). Makes six servings.

TOMATO-BASIL SAUCE

2 28-ounce cans plum tomatoes, undrained
1 5½-ounce can tomato paste
2 onions, finely chopped
2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
1 large bay leaf
2 tablespoons crumbled basil
2 teaspoons crumbled leaf oregano
1 teaspoon salt
freshly ground pepper, sugar

In food processor, puree tomatoes or drain liquid into saucepan and chop tomatoes by hand. Pour into large, heavy saucepan and add tomato paste, onions, garlic, bay leaf, basil and oregano. Simmer, uncovered, for 20 to 30 minutes or until sauce has thickened slightly and onions are tender. (If sauce thickens too quickly, cover for remaining cooking time.) Add salt, and pepper and sugar to taste. Makes six cups sauce. (May be frozen.)

Quick Buying Tips For Pennsylvania Sweet Peppers

The Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing and Research Program offers these tips when buying fresh sweet peppers:

- Select firm peppers that are heavy for their size.
- Look for peppers with a rich, glossy color.
- Sweet peppers can be briefly refrigerated prior to use.

Summer Vegetable

10 cups yellow summer squash, sliced
2 cups thinly sliced onions
1 or 2 green bell peppers, chopped
1 or 2 red bell peppers, chopped
3 teaspoons pickling salt
1 cup cider vinegar
1¼ cups sugar
½ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon mustard seed (or ¼ teaspoon dry tumeric and ¼ teaspoon dry mustard)

In large pan, combine squash, onions, peppers; sprinkle with salt and add two trays ice cubes. Mix well and let set 3 hours or until ice melts. Drain well in colander about 30 minutes.

In large pot, combine vinegar, sugar, and spices; heat to boiling, add well drained squash mixture to vinegar syrup. Heat to full rolling boil and boil for 3 to 5 minutes until squash is translucent. Spoon into hot dry jars. Makes about 4 pints. Process in boiling water for 5 minutes. About 50 calories per half cup. Always chill several hours before using.

TOMATOES

Cooking Tips:

•Tomatoes are versatile. Saute, bake, broil or grill them...and most of all, eat them raw!

• If you wish to remove skins, dunk whole tomatoes in boiling water for 15-30 seconds, remove with slotted spoon.

• For a decorative, quick and delicious side dish, slice tomatoes and arrange on a plate. Drizzle with olive oil (or a vinaigrette), chopped fresh basil or parsley and a little salt and pepper.

• Add tomato to your list of shish-ka-bob vegetables.

• Try frying or broiling sliced tomatoes topped with thin slices of cheese. Remove from heat when cheese is melted and tomatoes have softened and begin to bubble. It's a kid favorite.

• Top slices with a tangy guacamole or pesto spread for a great snack, hors d'oeuvres or side dish.

• Add tomato chunks to summer soups or hearty stews or puree tomato for a soup base or stock.

TOMATO SOUP

1 tablespoon butter
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 carrots, chopped
2 stalks celery, chopped
2 quarts canned tomatoes (or equivalent in fresh tomatoes and water) pinch of sugar
½ cup fresh basil (or ¼ cup dry) salt and pepper to taste
grated Parmesan cheese

Heat butter in skillet; saute garlic, carrots, and celery. Add tomatoes and simmer 20 minutes. Add sugar, basil, salt and pepper; simmer five-10 minutes longer. Top with Parmesan. Eight servings.

BLENDER SALSA DI POMODORO

lots of tomatoes
small amount of basil and parsley, dried or fresh a large amount of oregano minced garlic cloves
1 or 2 carrots, finely chopped
salt and pepper
Olive oil

In Italy, no one follows a recipe for tomato sauce, so use your imagination for quantities!

A couple of guidelines: Do not underestimate the amount of garlic; when in doubt, put in lots! Also, carrots are often the sweetener in Italian tomato sauce. Blend or process the tomatoes to an almost pureed texture. Gradually add herbs, garlic and carrots. Slowly cook the mixture in a deep skillet (cast iron is best). When sauce has reduced about halfway to the texture you want, add salt and pepper. Add several tablespoons of olive oil before reheating for serving. Makes any quantity.

SOUTHERN TOMATO PIE

1 sheet refrigerated pie crust
6 plum tomatoes, cut ¼-inch thick
Coarse salt (optional)
2 cups shredded mozzarella or Swiss cheese
Olive oil
⅓ cup minced fresh basil
½ teaspoon freshly ground pepper

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Prepare pie crust sheet, using a 9½-inch tart pan. Do not prick crust. Partially bake nine-11 minutes or until golden. (If crust puffs up, gently press back with back of wooden spoon.) Remove and cool crust; reduce oven heat to 375 degrees. Sprinkle tomatoes with salt, if desired, and place in single layer on paper towels; let drain 30 minutes. Pat dry. Sprinkle cheese evenly in cooled pastry shell. Arrange tomatoes over cheese in an overlapping circular pattern, covering surface. Brush tomatoes with olive oil. Sprinkle with basil and pepper. Bake 30-35 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before slicing. Serve hot or at room temperature. Eight servings.

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a self-addressed stamped envelope. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Check your recipe to make sure you copy the right amounts and complete instructions for making the recipe. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, but cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address. You may also e-mail questions and answers to lgood.eph@lnpnews.com

Notice: Several readers write that they have problems accessing this address. The common mistake is that readers are substituting an "i" for the "l" needed in two places. If you are having problems reaching this address, please check to make sure you are typing an "l" in both places and not an "i."

QUESTION — Rachel Musser is searching for a spaghetti sauce recipe that tastes similar to Prego pasta sauce (traditional).

QUESTION — Lynda Bell, Lincoln University, requested two recipes about a year ago, which were answered. Unfortunately, Lynda misplaced the recipes. She writes if readers will send them again, she promises not to lose them this time. She wants a recipe for gingerbread with butterscotch sauce from the Dinah Shore cookbook. She also wants a recipe for horseradish jelly.

QUESTION — Sheila Roney is looking for a sweet potato pie recipe that includes the ingredients of French vanilla pudding, sweetened condensed milk, and cinnamon.

QUESTION — Charles Cramer, New Market, Md., would like a copy of the "Lancaster Level Flo Cookbook (Recipes From the Land of the Pennsylvania Dutch)." His family enjoyed a recipe that they believe was originally published in this 1970s' cookbook. The potato salad recipe had a delicious salad dressing.

QUESTION — A reader wants a recipe to make elderberry wine from fresh elderberries.

QUESTION — A subscriber from Leesport writes that she has a problem with sponge and chiffon cakes. Although the cakes bake well, she ends up cutting off one-inch from the bottom of the cake because it is a gummy consistency.

QUESTION — Kenneth Hixon, Warfordsburg, would like a recipe for making gherkin pickles.

QUESTION — Kenneth Hixon, Warfordsburg, would like a recipe for stuffing peppers with a cabbage slaw mixture and canning in a pickled vinegar mixture. He needs complete instructions and ingredients.

QUESTION — A Somerset reader wants a recipe for cooked potato salad dressing that is very yellow from including lots of eggs. The dressing is chilled after it is cooked.

QUESTION — Don Love writes that ladies are not the only ones who like the "B" section. He used to manage restaurants in Gillette, Wyoming, and enjoys good old American country cooking. He'd like recipes to make homemade marshmallow creme, homemade cottage cheese, and cream cheese or substitute.

QUESTION — Several months ago Michael Brennan, Wilkes Barre, was at an auction in Sullivan County where he ate chicken noodle soup. He writes that it was delicious and looked to be only noodles and chicken. He believes the people at the food stand were from Berks County and were also selling beef vegetable soup. Brennan would like both recipes.

QUESTION — A reader is looking for recipes for hot pepper jam and for sweet pepper jam that tastes similiar to that made by Kitchen Kettle.

QUESTION — Bonnie Reese, Wellsboro, writes that a few years ago, she clipped a wonderful recipe for vegetable pizza from this paper. The recipe had a crust that tasted similar to crescent roll refrigerated dough. She lost the recipe and asked if anyone else clipped it and could send it in to be reprinted.

QUESTION — A Newburg reader would like recipes for jams and jellies or fruit spreads without sugar or artificial sweetener. She'd like recipes that taste similar to brands such as Polaner's All Fruit, Spreadable Fruit, or Smucker's Simply 100% Fruit.

QUESTION — Sylvia Allgyer, Christiana, would like a recipe for sourdough seven grain bread.

QUESTION — Eva Mae Oberholtzer, Ephrata, would like recipes to make goat cheeses and soaps. She writes that Michelle Good, Beavertown, had sent in a dairy contest recipe for a goat milk pudding and Eva Mae asks if she would send in more recipes using goat's milk.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, wants to know where to buy vanilla beans in bulk other than in a health food store.

QUESTION — Like many of our readers, Bonnie Koons, Harrisburg, writes that she loves B section and all the recipes she tries from it are great. She wants a recipe for cheesecake cookies, which have a snickerdoodle recipe base, cheesy center, and a cherry on top.

QUESTION — Shirley Miller, Nazareth, would like to find a recipe or booklet about potato flour.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, requests a recipe for canned pickled sausages or ring bologna.

QUESTION — Ruth Erb, Beavertown, wants a recipe called Ann-Margaret's Favorite Chocolate Cake.

QUESTION — Steven Skramko, Richfield Springs, N.Y., would like a recipe to make Shoe Top cookies, which look like leather used for repairing shoes. He writes the recipe is from 60 years ago.

ANSWER — Betty Jakum, Littlestown, wanted a recipe for cabbage-noodle salad that is served cold similar to potato salad or coleslaw. Thanks to Lynda Bell, Lincoln University, for sending a recipe that she received from her friend Trish. Everytime she serves the dish, guests requests the recipe.

Trish's Oriental Salad

2 packages Ramen noodles (reserve seasoning packet for another use)
Place noodles in plastic bag and crush
½ cup sesame seeds
½ cup almond chips (not slivers)
½ cup margarine

Preheat oven. Melt margarine in jelly roll pan. Toss in the above items, and make sure everything is greased with melted butter. Bake for 15-20 minutes. Toss every 10 minutes. Remove from oven and cool.

Slice a head of cabbage or Bok Choy. Slice thin like cole slaw. Toss in ½ cup sliced scallions. Combine with cooled noodles, and toss with salad dressing.

Dressing: Combine and shake the following together:

1 tablespoon soy sauce
½ cup cooking oil (not olive)
½ cup sugar
¼ cup vinegar

Combine mixtures just before serving so noodles remain crisp.

Thanks to Cathy Christ for sending who writes that friends and family always request that she bring this dish to picnics. She writes, "It goes over very well, especially with my mother-in-law.

Chicken Cabbage Salad

1 head cabbage, diced
2 chicken breasts, cooked, diced
4 tablespoons sesame seeds
½-¾ cup sliced almonds
4 green onions, chopped
4 packages Ramen noodles, chicken flavor

Dressing:

4 tablespoon sugar
6 tablespoons vinegar
1 cup vegetable oil
½ teaspoon salt and pepper
4 packages chicken seasoning from noodle packages

Bake sesame seeds and almonds in 350 degree oven for 10 minutes or until nicely browned. Meanwhile, combine cabbage, onions, and chicken in large bowl. Add sesame seeds and almonds, mix thoroughly. When ready to serve, add dressing and crumbled up Ramen noodles.

ANSWER — A reader wanted a recipe to make a baking mix similar to Bisquick, which she can use in recipes calling for Bisquick. Thanks to Lynda Bell, Lincoln University, and to Taylorfarm for e-mailing similar recipes.

Master Mix

8 cups flour
1 to 1⅓ cups nonfat dry milk
⅓ cup baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup cold shortening, margarine or butter

Blend dry ingredients well. Cut in shortening to consistency of cornmeal. Store in airtight container. Refrigerate, if using margarine or butter. Makes about 11 cups.

Master Mix

9 cups sifted all-purpose flour
⅓ cup baking powder
1 tablespoon salt
2 teaspoons cream of tartar
4 tablespoons sugar
1 cup nonfat dry milk
2 cups shortening, which does not require refrigeration

Sift together 3 times, flour, baking powder, salt, cream of tartar, sugar, and dry milk. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives until mixture looks like coarse cornmeal. Store in covered container at room temperature. Makes 13 cups mix.

Note: To measure master mix, pile lightly into cup and level off with spatula.

ANSWER Michael Brennan, Wilkes Barre, wanted a recipe for brown basmati long-grain rice. Thanks to Toni Kellers for writing that the word is spelled correctly. With a little detective work at the grocery, she found Texmati Long Grain American Basmati Rice in a plastic jar. Her family and friends love the recipe she included, which was originally printed in Country Living magazine. Toni also uses basmati rice in place of recipes for long-grain rice. Toni writes that coconut milk is found in supermarkets in the aisle with drink mixes.

Curried Butternut Squash And Rice Casserole

2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 cup chopped onion
1 shallot, chopped
1 tablespoon curry powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground coriander
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
2 cups reduced-sodium chicken or vegetable broth
14-ounce can reduced-fat coconut milk
2½ cups butternut squash, peeled, cubed
1½ cups basmati rice
¼ cup sliced almonds
¼ cup golden raisins

Heat oven to 375 degrees. In a shallow Dutch oven, heat oil over medium heat. Add onion, shallot, curry powder, salt, coriander, and pepper. Saute until onion has softened 5-7 minutes.

Stir in broth and coconut milk. Bring the mixture to a boil over high heat. Cook one minute. Remove pan from heat and stir in the squash, rice, almonds, and raisins. Cover tightly and place in oven. Bake 20 minutes. Carefully remove the cover and bake 10 minutes longer. Serve immediately.

ANSWER — Bonnie Reese, Wellsboro, wanted a recipe for cheesecake that tastes like that served in restaurants. Thanks to Norma McClure, York, for sending what she writes is a really good recipe that she hopes Bonnie will enjoy as much as her family does.

Cheesecake

Have all ingredients at room temperature. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line bottom of 10-inch spring-form pan with graham cracker crumbs, after greasing the sides.

Cheesecake Mixture:

3 pounds cream cheese
10 eggs (9 if large)
1 pound confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon vanilla

Beat cream cheese at low speed until soft and creamy. Add one egg at a time. Add confectioners' sugar, vanilla, and lemon juice. Beat 5 minutes or more. Pour batter into springform pan and place in shallow pan in oven; After baking 20-30 minutes, put hot water in pan in which springform pan is sitting. Bake 40 minutes longer. Keep water in pan at all times. Cool completely before removing sides from pan.

ANSWER — Eleanor Kisner, Muncy, wanted zucchini recipes for casseroles. Here are a few. For more recipes from our readers, check out the Home On The Range page.

Zucchini Pizza Casserole

4-5 10-inch zucchinis, sliced
1 pound ground beef
1 onion
Salt, pepper, and oregano, to taste
15-ounce can pizza sauce
¼ pound mozzarella cheese

Cook squash slightly in salted water. Drain; put into casserole. Fry meat and onions; season and add pizza sauce. Pour over squash and top with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

"This is our best recipe," writes Eva Rissler, New Enterprise.

Zucchini Quiche

1 cup onion, chopped
1 cup Bisquick baking mix
4 eggs
½ cup vegetable oil
½ cup Parmesan cheese or grated cheese of your choice
1 teaspoon parsley, optional
¼ teaspoon salt or to taste

Dads And Discipline

Nancy E. Wallace, MS., CFCS
Penn State University

In recent years, a researcher and popular author has published books supporting the premise that men and women think and act very differently. It is true. And, it is also true that fathers and mothers differ on the "why" of discipline. While dad and mom have differing viewpoints on discipline, one person's views are not necessarily better than the other.

First, let's look at the reason for discipline. "Discipline" comes from the Latin word disciplina and means teaching. Discipline does not mean punishing. Both parents agree on that the goal is teaching behavior and not punishing misbehavior.

Mothers, though tend to want their children to behave because they feel that it is good to be good. Moms think, "Be good, because if you don't, we (mom and child) won't get along."

Dads tend to want children to be good because children will find their way in the world if they behave according to certain societal rules.

Dad, on the other hand, thinks, "Behave, because if you don't you'll never get a job, have friends, etc."

What's a parent to do? Recognize and appreciate the differences. It is important for both parents to participate in limit setting and discipline. Effective discipline is short and simple. Teach children to engage in behaviors that will not harm themselves, other people or property. As children grow older, include them in determining what is appropriate behavior. Decide together, how far is too far, how much is too much. Making a chart of acceptable and not acceptable behaviors and their consequences works in some families — a mom method. Dads tend to think children should remember. Some children do remember, but don't count on it.

Label the child's and your feelings about the behavior. I know that makes you so angry, but we don't hurt people. What can you do? Children feel relieved when dad relates that he is angry, or frustrated, confused, etc., too.

Young children, especially, feel that mom and dad are perfect. By labeling their and your behavior, children are taught that anger is an acceptable feeling. Once the feeling is identified, work with the child to handle it. Dads tend to look toward more concrete solutions. Counting to 10 works. Leaving the scene works. Sometimes dad can reinforce that crying is okay, too (even for boys).

With discipline, moms and dads have the same expectations, goals in sight. Their roadmap to that goal may vary. Children benefit by being exposed to the differing styles of their parents. Being exposed to both styles helps children to better cope with the variety of people and problems they will encounter in later life.

So while men may be from Mars and women from Venus, both provide valued reasons and methods for discipline. Keep teaching your children.

Berks Fashion Revue Names Winners

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — Fifty 4-H'ers from six 4-H sewing clubs modeled their sewing projects at the Berks County 4-H Fashion Revue conducted at the Ag Center recently.

Winners who advanced to the Southeast Regional 4-H Fashion Revue, Allentown, were Rachel Rounsville, Katrina Shutt, Taryn Stein, Kelli Ann Shlegel, Katie Kauffman, Angela Hohl, Monica Beistline, Caitlin Ketterer, Caitlin Celia, Jamie Marsh, Jennifer Faust, Logan Monighan, and Jamie Celia.

Three gold honor awards went to Kelli Ann Schlegel, Taryn Stein, and Rachel Rounsville.

Senior division blue honors went to Katrina Shutt and Katie Kauffman.

Junior gold winners were Caitlin and Jamie, Celia, Jamie Marsh, and Jennifer Faust, and Logan Monighan.

Junior division blue honor award winners were Jennifer Faust, Logan Monigham, and Jamie Marsh.

The daylong Fashion Revue included workshops and modeling.

3 to 3½ cups zucchini, grated (peeled if you need to disguise it)

Mix together all ingredients except zucchini in a bowl. Add zucchini and stir well. Pour into a buttered 9-inch pie plate or small casserole dish. Bake until browned at 350 degrees for 30-40 minutes.

Substitution for Bisquick baking mix:
1 cup flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder
⅓-½ teaspoon salt

"My family of eight thinks this is one of the best recipes for zucchini. I often double the recipe and bake in a 9x13-inch pan and serve for supper."

ANSWER — A reader wanted recipes for breads, cakes, etc., using whole grains. Thanks to Minerva Rissler, New Enterprise, for recipes.

Wheat Bread

2 packages dry yeast
2 cups warm water
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup honey
¼ cup vegetable oil
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups white flour
2 cups wheat flour
1 cup gluten flour

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add sugar, honey, oil, salt, and flour. Let rise, punch down, and let rise again. Divide and place into two bread loaf pans. Let rise until doubled in size. Bake at 325 degrees for 10 minutes or at 300 degrees for 25 minutes.

Honey Carrot Cake

2 cups whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ cup chopped nuts
¾ cup oil
¾ cup honey
4 eggs
2 cups grated carrots
1 cup unsweetened crushed pineapple, drained, OR 1 cup peaches, crushed, drained

Combine dry ingredients. Add oil, honey, and eggs. Mix well. Stir in carrots and pineapple or peaches. Pour into two greased and floured 9-inch layer pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes. Cool and frost if desired.

Cream Cheese Frosting:
8-ounces cream cheese
6 tablespoons butter, softened
2-4 tablespoons honey
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup nuts

Beat together cream cheese and butter until fluffy. Add honey and vanilla. Sprinkle with nuts.

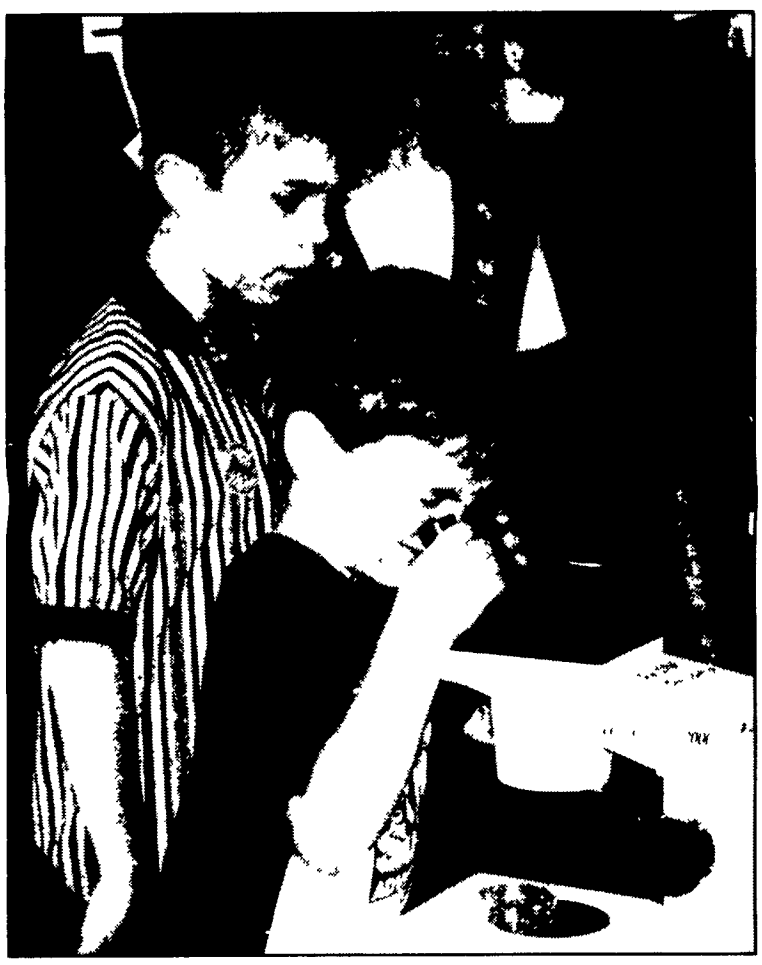
Kids Korner

Progress Seekers

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

Things for kids to see and do at Ag Progress included the science of agriculture coming to life. Out of the ordinary exhibits included a Bugmobile, a roving, talkig car painted like a bug to teach kids about insects and pests. For petting and admiring were native American species and farm animals. Take a look at these kids and some of the things they got to do at Ag Progress held Tuesday through Thursday.

Smooching with a miniature horse is Inga Geten, 14, of Cogan Station.



"Check this guy out. He's yucky," says 4-year-old Aaron Gaylin about the bug he's examining with a microscope.

While her husband Aaron checks out "all the seed people," Virgina Zimmerman and children, Heather, 5, Conrad, 2, and Monica, 3, explore the grounds of Ag Progress.

Nathanial Peters, 9, favorite activity is "riding this Ford tractor" while his dad works at a booth.

Choosing healhy snack foods can be fun when it's a game.

Gardening Problems

Symptoms such as yellowing leaves and slow growth on plants could be attributed to several problems, including lack of water, overwatering or nutrient deficiencies. High soluble salt levels in the soil, due to too much fertilizer, will also cause leaves to turn yellow.

Plant analysis should be done to find the problem. If it's a nutrient deficiency problem, adding that nutrient to the soil around the plant should solve the dilemma.

If your plants lack nitrogen, older leaves will turn yellow, die and drop off. New leaves may be smaller than normal and the plant will grow slowly. Fruit-bearing plants may develop many blooms but no fruit. Leaves will usually mature early.

Phosphorous deficiencies are evident when the leaves of your plant turn unusually dull or grayish-green. The leaves may grow close together on shorter stems, and veins, petioles (leafstalks) and lower leaf surfaces may be a reddish-purple color. The blooms on fruit-producing plants will be fewer than normal, and fruits will be scarce and small.

If the leaves of your plants turn yellow between the veins, this may be a sign of an iron deficiency. The older leaves of the plant will remain green and so will the veins, but the newer leaves will turn yellow.

If you notice leaves that are crinkled or curling, they may need more potassium. Older leaves will turn yellow and scorching will progress from the edge of the leaves to the center. The growth pattern will produce short, bushy branches and stems.

"Little leaf" is another name for zinc deficiency. The leaves on the plants will be yellow and small. They may be misshapen or strange in color. The shoots and twigs will be dwarfed and may die off.

Caution is key when applying fertilizers containing micronutrients. Too much of a good thing can also be harmful to your plants.

When you notice your plants' distress signals, examine the situation. If you can rule out insufficient water supply and overwatering, have the soil tested. The soil test lab will provide you with soil nutrient levels — the information you need to solve the problem.

Can Bedbugs Really Bite

You've heard the phrase, "Good night, sleep tight, don't let the bed bugs bite!"

Did you know that there really are bed bugs and they just might nibble on your toes while you're sleeping?

Bed bugs are small, oval-shaped, reddish-brown insects that feed on the blood of humans, rabbits, birds and other warm-blooded animals. They are about a ¼-inch to ⅝-inch long and they appear to have a flimsy, crinkly surface.

When bed bugs bite, they cause a small, swollen, white welt to appear on the skin. And the bite is often itchy. You can recognize bed bug bites because there may be small drops of blood on the sheets and a musty smell that may resemble fresh red raspberries.

Bed bugs are normally found in floor cracks, bed springs, under carpets, or inside stuffed chairs. But don't worry, you can prevent these pesky bugs from making a meal out of you by keeping your room neat and tidy-something you should do anyway! Frequently vacuum the carpet in your bedroom and launder your sheets and blankets on a regular basis. Dust furniture and items displayed in and around your room. By keeping your space clean, you can keep the bed bugs away, night after night!

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

The end of August means back to school for our grandchildren. Two will go to college and two will start kindergarten. The other 10 are in-between those ages. I started school after Labor Day, but now some children start in the middle of August.

In fact, birthday parties were held in order to miss school days. This month there will be five birthdays among our grandchildren. Many of them have spent time with us this summer.

My husband and I were recently invited to spend a day at an amusement park. Besides being quite expensive, the shows were entirely too loud for my taste. Most of the attendees were young people who enjoyed the many rides. Believe it or not, I was glad to come home to the weeds in the garden and flower beds.

We have just picked five bushel of peaches off of one little tree. What to do with so many? We gave a lot to neighbors and relatives. But, even so, I canned peaches for several days.

Another thing that I can every other day is pickles. The five hills that I planted are bearing almost too many and so I've been sharing them with folks who take walks along our road. It is a dead end road and so it is ideal for hiking.

My husband has gone to Penn State Ag Progress Days near State College with a friend and so I stay home and run what seems like a food processing plant. At least I am hoping that we can enjoy the results of our labor this winter.

Skunk Problems?

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — If it looks like someone rototilled a circle on your lawn last night, don't assume you have a strange neighbor.

It may be the neighborhood skunk, said a wildlife biologist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Skunks often come into yards to root around for grubs," said Gary San Julian, professor of wildlife resources. "They also get under houses, decks and sheds. We all know the problem with skunks — if they get scared or you harass them, they spray a very disagreeable odor, which is extremely difficult to remove."

Skunk damage is easily differentiated from that of dogs and squirrels because skunks tend to tear up patches in the grass as they search for grubs. Skunks also have tracks with five toes — although the fifth may be hard to see. Skunk droppings are one or two inches long, ¼- to ½-inch wide and often contain parts of insects, skunks' preferred food.

"A skunky odor alone doesn't mean a skunk's still in the vicinity. A dog, cat or other animal may have been sprayed. Depending on wind direction, experts say, skunks can spray up to six, 12 or 18 feet.

The best way to deal with a pesky skunk is to live-trap and move it. No pesticides are registered for use with skunks, and you need to be extremely careful when using fumigants.

Chicken entrails, sardines, peanut butter or fishy cat food all make good bait. Cover the trap with canvas or dark plastic to make it dark inside. This probably makes the skunk feel more secure, and it can't see what's going on. Once you've trapped the skunk, slowly, quietly move the trap at least 10 miles to a suitable habitat where it won't harass another landowner. Set the trap down gently and open the door.

You probably won't get sprayed while trapping, because the skunk won't have enough room inside the trap to lift its tail.

People in Pennsylvania need a trapping license to hunt or trap skunks, unless they are damaging property. Call your local game commission employee or wildlife conservation officer and tell them what you want to do.

If you don't want to get that intimate with a skunk, San Julian suggests calling a wildlife damage control specialist. Your county Penn State Cooperative Extension office keeps lists of specialists registered with the game commission.

To prevent skunks from making dens under houses, sheds or decks, seal potential entries. Sprinkle flour in front of the holes and watch for footprints leaving the area to make sure the skunk is out from under the house. Skunks aren't much larger than a small cat and can slip through 3- or 4-inch spaces.

Skunks are dormant for about one month during the coldest part of the winter. They breed from late February to late March. You're most likely to run into skunks right before the sun comes up and at dusk. If you get sprayed, burn, bury or get rid of your clothes."

Although tomato juice works fairly well, the following new solution washes away "eau de skunk" and other odors. In an open container, mix 1 quart 3 percent hydrogen peroxide, ¼ cup baking soda and 1 teaspoon liquid soap.

Spray it several times on walls, structures, your dog or yourself, then wash it out. Don't store this solution — use it all up. Hydrogen peroxide and baking soda mixed together produce a gas that can explode in a container.

If left alone, San Julian says that skunks are peaceful and play an important role in the ecosystem by controlling insects and rodents. They're also fun to watch.

But beware: like foxes, raccoons and bats, skunks can carry rabies. "Rabies has reached epidemic proportions in the Northeast in the past 20 years," San Julian says. "Because skunks are nocturnal, they usually stay out of sight during the day. If you see a skunk acting strangely in the daytime, or acting aggressively and coming towards you, stay away from it. Call your local wildlife conservation officer.

Riding On A Tractor Or Other Farm Machinery Even With An Adult, Is One Of The Most Dangerous Things A Child Can Do?
5. Did You Know
25% Of Accidents Are Weather Related, 25% More Are From Buildings Being Structurally Unsafe, 50% Are Due To Human Error?

Connie Teel, safety chairman of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, said that 40 percent of reported farm accidents are women. She, herself, has had two farm injuries and knows how quickly accidents can happen. At the booth, visitors who picked out 17 hazards received prizes such as sunglasses, coloring books, earplugs, and an entry for a smoke detector.

more susceptible to injuries. A friend of hers had long hair that got caught in a power take off resulting in severe scalp injuries.

Connie, herself, knows how quickly accidents can happen. She recently slipped on wet tile in the barn and broke her wrist.

With four children and now grandchildren growing up on a farm, Connie wants to do all she can to promote farm safety.

Visitors competed in the largest weed contest. professional growers and farmers seeking a profitable crop alternative visited the cut-flower demonstration plot, where horticulture experts gave advice on gardening and flower growing.

While the latest scientific findings are intriguing to scholars and the equipment, tour, and crop information are a bonus for farmers, the family-oriented activities are a big drawing card.

"Our family looks forward to this every year, and it's free!" a Somerset County visitor said. "There aren't too many free events anywhere else for family fun."

Pennsylvania Angus Queen Jessica Schmidt and Barb Weaver, New Holland, admire Merit, the Angus bull.

Frank and Ruth Tressler come to see their granddaughter Ali Siegenthales participate in the horse riding event.

Kids in the kitchen result in more than good food. According to Susan Fisher, Capital region Expanded Foods and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP), cooking helps children learn lifeskills, math, and science. She demonstrated some recipes kids like to try.

15'7" cut. Superior conditioning.

The NEW 1441 Discbine® disc mower-conditioner uses 12 discs to make a wide 15'7" cut through your heaviest, toughest crop conditions. You'll clear large fields fast and condition crops thoroughly for fast drydown.

- The advanced independent modular design uses individual disc modules with sealed gear cases connected by independent drive shafts for easy maintenance and repair.
- 102" chevron-design intermeshing rubber rolls provide high capacity and gentle, even conditioning.
- Standard swivel hitch tongue gives you exceptional maneuverability to make tight headland turns and over-square corners.

NEW HOLLAND

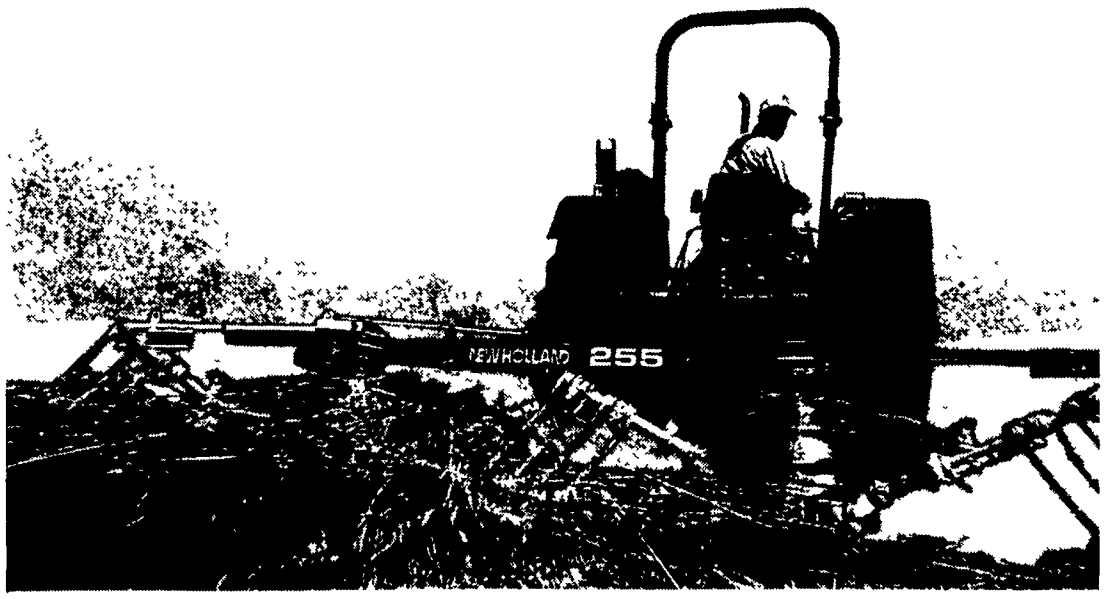
Two jobs, one tool: It's a tedder and a rake

The Model 255 rake tedder is a flexible machine — it's the tedder that also rakes.

- Rake a swath into a windrow
- Rake two windrows into one
- Turn windrows for faster drying
- Move crop away from fences or borders
- Ted a 10½-foot area to fluff up wet, matted-down crop for quick drying

And you can change the "255" from one function to another without tools!

NEW HOLLAND



Big capacity. Uniform chop.

No other forage harvesters give you best-in-class capacity and chop quality. Only the new FP230 and FP240 forage harvesters from New Holland.

- Rugged 1,000-rpm driveline matches higher-horsepower tractors. Use the FP230 with tractors up to 225 PTO hp and the FP240 with tractors up to 300 PTO hp.
- Massive 12-knife cutterhead produces a uniform length of cut from 3/16" to 1-5/16" with four knives.
- Knife sharpening and shearbar adjustment are easy to keep cutting performance at its best.
- Optional on-board Crop-Pro™ crop processor makes feed more digestible and saves the expense and time of using a stationary roller mill.
- Optional Metalert® III electronic metal detector gives you peace of mind.

Choose one of the forage harvesters that deliver what matters—big capacity and uniform chop. See the FP230 or FP240 today.

Put quality silage under wraps

New Holland round bale wrappers are the low-cost alternative to traditional silage storage—they seal your silage bales in "mini silos". You can harvest silage during peak feed quality, store it with greater flexibility, and feed it more efficiently with less waste.

Choose from two models:

- Model B27P is an economic utility wrapper for medium-volume silage producers
- Model B37P is ideal for custom harvesters or operations wrapping large volumes of bales

Both offer a side-mounted lifting arm, three-belt turntable, two large side-support rollers, and cable controls. The B37P is available with computer controls.

Schuylkill County Boasts "Have We Got A Fair For You'

Briana Shealer shows the champion and reserve market lambs.

Turning cream into butter is no easy feat according to Schuylkill County Fair Queen Katee Frank, Princess Codi McGuinness, and Little Miss Tiffany Piker, 9.

LOU ANN GOOD

SUMMIT STATION (Schuylkill Co.) — At every fair 4-H'ers play a substantial part in livestock showing. Raising the animals and preparing them for showing requires lots of work and patience.

At the Schuylkill County Fair, Aug. 7-12, 4-H'ers also provided activities in honor of Dairy Day. Visitors vied for prizes in the butter making contest, ice cream eating contest, milk chugging contest, and other activities.

The events caused lots of laughs, messiness, and some arms aches from shaking a jar of cream into butter.

In livestock competition, Paul and Briana Shealer showed many of the champion animals. The brother and sister team from Auburn said they share many of the chores, but when it comes to show ring they compete against each other.

Paul showed the Big Guy, a purebred Black Angus, which took champion market steer honors. Paul also showed the reserve market hog and the grand champion market goat.

The ice cream eating contest would be easier without hair.

Briana showed Rita, the champion market hog, the champion and reserve market lambs, Thelma and Louise.

Aaron Ruch, 17, Andreas, showed a 3-year-old Holstein for the Supreme champion cow over all breeds.

The homebred cow was raised on his parents' Brian and Brenda Ruch's farm where they milk 45-50 cows.

Peach ice cream sundaes is the most popular choice by fairgoers. Here Schuylkill County Dairy Princess Samantha Snyder and Li'l Dairy Miss Madlyn Daubert show off the sundae made by Victoria Daubert, Gail Moyer, Melanie Daubert, and Helen Leatherman.

Eva Roeder, Lebanon, shows off one of the many blue ribbons she won at the fair. With her are her daughter Sue Hanson and granddaughter Kate, who fly in from California to enjoy the annual fair.

In the junior division, the supreme champion cow is shown by Aaron Ruck, Andres. With him is his parents Brian and Brenda, and sister Kaitlyn, 9.

The Boer crossbred goat shown by Paul Shealer placed first in market goat competition.

The champion and reserve hogs were shown by the Shealer siblings, Briana and Paul, respectively.

Paul Shealer shows the champion steer and Naon Schaeffer, the reserve.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Cumberland Horse, Pony 4-H

On Aug. 1, the Cumberland County Light Horse and Pony Club's two horse judging teams traveled to Penn State to attend Penn State 4-H Achievement Days.

This three-day event had several categories for club members to compete in both individually and as a team.

One junior team and one senior team from Cumberland County competed in the state horse judging contest. Teams throughout Pennsylvania came together for this one-day contest.

The junior team consisted of Kristin Egolf, Jessica Heinemann, and Michelle Thomas. Seniors were Heidi Evelhoch, Trevor Long, Carrie McLaughlin, and Mary Strasbaugh.

Judging took place on Aug. 2 at 8:30 a.m. Each individual team member needed to judge six classes of horses. Four of the classes were halter with two performance classes.

The halter classes were aged Quarter-horse geldings, aged hunter-type geldings, aged Quarter-horse mares, and yearling Haflinger fillies. Individuals were judging these classes on the conformation of the horse.

The performance classes were western pleasure and hunter under saddle. Each class had four horses and contestants placed the horses according to their conformation and performance. The junior teams also were required to give a verbal set of reasons in placing the aged hunter-type geldings. Senior teams were also required to give verbal reasons for this same class along with aged Quarterhorse mares.

The morning of Aug. 3, teams attended the awards ceremonies. Individual and team placings were announced at this time. Thanks to the efforts of Cumberland County's horse judging coach and 4-H leader, Barb Rebert, the junior and senior teams placed second in the state.

Erie County 4-H Livestock Sale Sept. 7

Interested in filling your freezer with high quality beef, lamb, or pork? Then come on out to the annual Erie County 4-H Livestock Sale at the Waterford Fair Thursday, Sept. 7.

The sale will start promptly at 6 p.m. with the sale of the grand and reserve champion market lambs, followed by the sale of the balance of the market lambs.

The grand and reserve champion market hogs will be sold next, followed by the sale of the balance of the market hogs. The sale will close with the sale of the grand and reserve market steers, followed by the sale of the balance of the market steers.

According to Sarah Diehl, Corry, 4-H livestock subcommittee chairman, all buyers at the sale will receive excellent quality meat and will be encouraging area youth in a worthwhile educational experience. The sale culminates the long project year for the approximately 60 4-H and FFA members who participate.

Many of these young people selected their feeder calves nearly a year ago, and now these steers are ready for market, having been grain-fed throughout the past 10 months. Lambs and hogs were selected in the spring, and they've also been carefully raised for market in the past several months.

In all, approximately 25 steers, 25 market lambs, and 55 market hogs will be offered for sale Sept. 7. All hogs offered for sale will be judged at the Waterford Fair on Monday afternoon, Sept. 4. Lambs will be judged on Tuesday evening, Sept. 5, and the steers will be judged on Wednesday evening, Sept. 6.

Auctioneers for the sale will include Raleigh Chesley, Chesley Auctioneers, North East; Doug Chesley, Chesley Auctioneering, North East; Sherm Allen, C. Sherman Allen Auctioneer and Associates, Conneaut Lake; Jeff Bennett, Union City Livestock Auction, Union City; and Gary Shidemantle, Gary's Sales Service, Edinboro. These auctioneers will sell all of the livestock to the highest bidder.

This year's auction will also feature the sale of a charity hog. The hog, donated by 4-H volunteer leaders Dayna and Jesse Fiske, Waterford, is being raised by members of the Waterford Livestock Wranglers 4-H Club. The sale of this hog will benefit the Waterford Food Pantry. The charity hog will be sold at the end of the hog sale order at approximately 8 p.m. on Sept. 7 by the "Breakfast Flakes" from Froggy 94.7. The buyer will be taking home high quality meat as well as supporting the designated charity. In addition, the buyer will receive a commemorative plaque.

The auction will also feature the sale of both a market lamb and a steer to benefit the Erie County 4-H/Youth Development Program Scholarship Fund. The market lamb, being raised by Morgan Komarow, Belle Valley, of the True Grit 4-H Club, Wattsburg, was donated to 4-H by Walter and Denise Clark of Sonshine Acres in Meadville. This scholarship fund benefit lamb will be sold at the end of the lamb sale order at approximately 7 p.m.

Joe Reiser, Cranesville, is raising the steer that will be sold at the end of the sale to benefit the scholarship fund. The feeder calf was donated to the program by Gerald and Darlene Wise and Paul Wise, all of Wise Acres Farm, Springfield. Reiser is a member of the New Millennium 4-H Club.

Contact the Erie County Cooperative Extension Office at (814) 825-0900 for more information.

The Younger Side Of The Fair

"Toots," a February calf, found time during show ring practice to investigate the camera. She and Joshua Sattazahn, of Harrisburg, took first place in the winter calf show.

Besides consuming cookies, fair youngsters find other avenues of entertainment. Jonathan Sattazahn, 11, of Harrisburg, and Douglas Troutman, 7, of Mohrsville, discover that trading baseball cards can be an interesting sideshow to activities in the main ring.

Above, Taylor Hoffman, 4, from Bernville, has a head start on learning how to fit and show animals. When older siblings are involved in showing animals, the younger children of the family get an early introduction. Taylor needs only a tall glass of cold milk as he munches on chocolate chip cookies and watches his family prepare to show Holstein calves.

Students in the Ranger group from the Goddard School, ages four to six years old, were on the hunt during the Reading fair. Teachers Tanya Henne and Rachael Penatzer guided the students as they filled in the blanks of their scavenger hunt. Students identified livestock breeds, asked fair participants questions about farming, found examples of hay and straw, and tracked down a dairy princess signature as they learned about agriculture during their afternoon field trip.

Tiffany Hoffman, 9, below, carefully guides "Cillana" around the ring during the fall heifer class. This year is the first year in 4-H for Hoffman, from Bernville.

Caring for and showing animals teaches young participants many important lessons about responsibility, handling stress, and budgeting time. Below, Kyle Kulp, 8, from Leesport, learned firsthand how to take care of his animals during fair time. This year Kulp, who is participating in 4-H for the first time, overcame first-year show ring jitters to take "Annabell" and "Rock" into the ring and walk away with several awards.

The Younger Side Of The Fair

MICHELLE RANCK

The polished performance of fair exhibitors is not an accident but a result of hours of hard work and experience in the ring as children. Here is a sneak peak at future show ring stars.

Tyler Sattazahn, 7, Womelsdorf, finds his own place to hang out during the dairy shows. Next year Sattazahn plans to have his own calf to show at the fair.

The softer side of competition: Kayci Johns, 6, and Tiara Alspaugh, 5, touch the quivering noses of young rabbits at the fair.

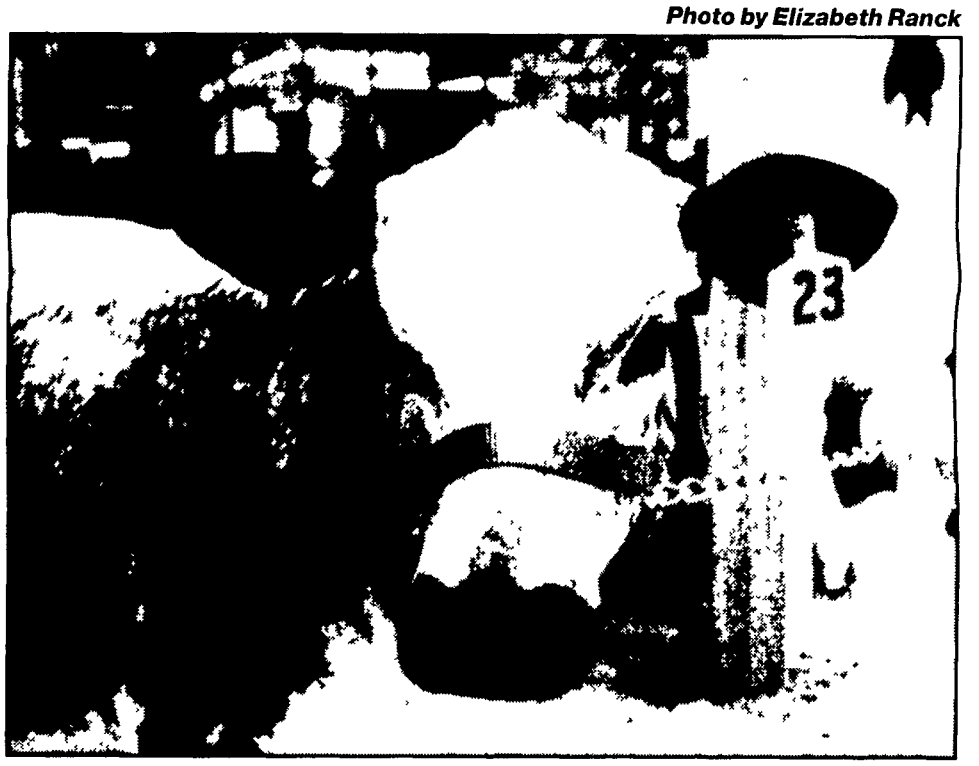
Where young competitors are, there are young animals. "Annabell" took home Lineback awards for her young owner, Kyle Kulp, 8, of Leesport.



Dairy promotion training begins early. Even with her crown slightly askew, Lil Miss Jaylene Lesher, 6, right, knows how to promote dairy products. She and her sister, Laura, 4, both from Bernville, enjoy the ever-popular fair milkshakes during the dairy show.

Cousins Tiffany Hoffman, 9, Shanna Alspaugh, 8, both from Bernville, and Samantha Johns, 8, from Richland, do not seem to mind some friendly family competition in the ring as they launch their show ring careers together.

You ask 'ou

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Or, you may e-mail questions and answers to lgood.eph@lnpnews.com

Please clarify what question you are answering when responding.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

QUESTION — A reader would like to know if Lawrence Organ Mfg. Co. from Easton is still in business. Or, is anyone interested in a 1918 organ in working condition and original finish. Anyone know what it is worth?

QUESTION — A Schuylkill County reader wants to know where to find instructions on making baskets from birch bark.

ANSWER — Susan High wanted the name of a contact person for information concerning Hershey Farms or Hershey Chocolate. Thanks to La Bashore, Juniata County, for sending an information number for Hershey Food: 1-800-Hershey. The website is hersheypa.com.

ANSWER — N.Kring wanted to know how to rid of thistles. Lorin Tuttle writes that Roundup works for him.

ANSWER — Naomi Blank, Kinzers, wanted to know how to care for cyclamen. She received one for Christmas and would like to know how to have it bloom again next year. Thanks to Dick Herring for sending the following information: The most important criteria for success with growing Cyclamen are temperature, fresh air, and moisture. Cyclamen will rarely succeed if temperature goes above 65 degrees during the day and 50 degrees at night. Cyclamen should be watered daily to keep the soil moist. Ideally they should be kept on top of a pebble filled tray of water. Never pour the water over the crown of the plant, as this will cause the corm to rot. Because cyclamen prefer a humid atmosphere, misting is beneficial. Keep out of drafts.

Cyclamen will bloom from December to April if kept cool and happy. As the flower stalks and leaves die off, remove by giving a sharp tug. New foliage will replace the old.

The corm of the plant will normally go dormant after April. Gradually reduce the water, keeping the plant in a cool, darker place. Allow the corm to slowly dry out. Replant in a shaded area of the garden in the spring. In the garden, cyclamen should be planted with half of the corm just below the soil surface. In July and August, when new leaves begin to develop, transplant into a pot using a rich sandy potting soil, but leave outdoors. Keep the bed on the pot stands moist. In early fall, the potted corm can be moved indoors, where it should be kept by a window to receive a few hours of morning sun each day. Potted cyclamen should be fed monthly with a diluted half-strength liquid house plant fertilizer.

ANSWER — Doris Stahl wanted the words to the song, "Don't Go Out in the Woods Tonight." Thanks to Toni Kellers and Lorin Tuttle, who both e-mailed the following words.

The Teddy Bear's Picnic

If you go down in the woods today
You're sure of a big surprise
If you go down in the woods today
You'd better go in disguise
For every bear that ever there was
Will gather there for certain because
Today's the day the teddy bears have their picnic.
Every teddy bear who's been good
Is sure of a treat today
There's lots of marvelous things to eat
And wonderful games to play
Beneath the trees where nobody sees
They'll hide and seek as long as they please
'Cause that's the way the teddy bears have their picnic.
If you go down in the woods today
You better not go alone
It's lovely down in the woods today
But safer to stay at home
For every bear that ever there was
Will gather there for certain because
Today's the day the teddy bears have their picnic.
(Interlude)
Picnic time for teddy bears
The little teddy bears are having a lovely time today
Watch them, catch them unawares
And see them picnic on their holiday
See them gaily gad about
They love to play and shout, they never have any care
At six o'clock their mummies and daddies will take them home to bed
Because they're tired little teddy bears.

ANSWER — Eleanor Stewart, 360 Summit Rd., Bellefonte, wanted to know what company to contact to have Lifetime stainless steel cooking pans repaired. Marion Freeland writes that she also had a problem with the cookware and through this column was given the following address, which she used and the company stood behind the guarantee: Customer Service Dept., West Bend Co., West Bend, WI 53095.

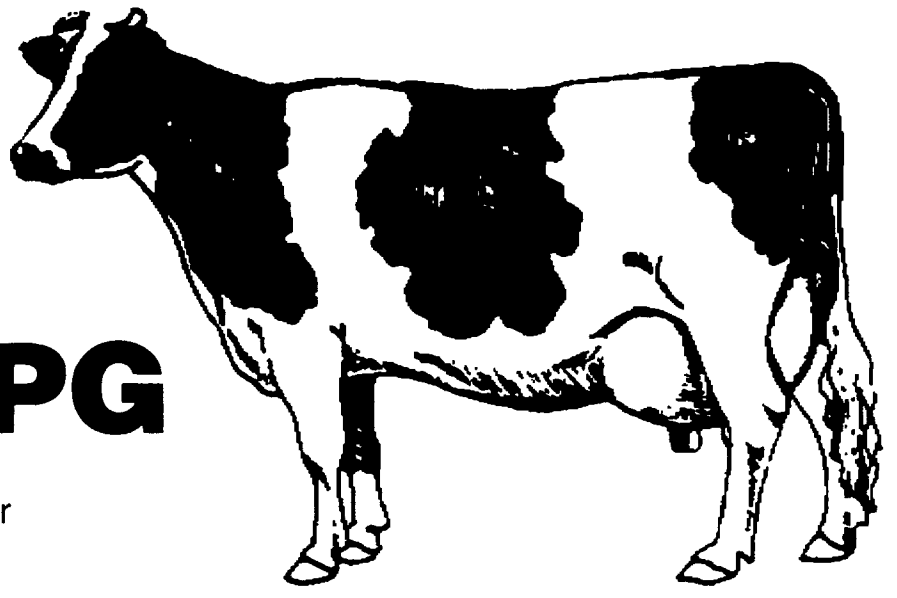
CONSOLIDATED NUTRITION, L.C.

Announcing



RESPONSE™ PG

An exciting new dairy product with great potential for dairy producers.

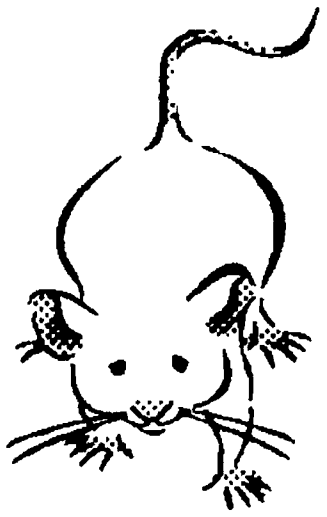
Response™ PG will improve rumen function and provide a source of energy precursor during the critical transition period.

Consolidated Nutrition's Reponse™ PG is 55% propylene glycol. It also contains a yeast culture in an easy to use, palatable dry form, clearly makes Response™ PG a break through dairy product.

The target feeding rate is about 9 oz. of Response™PG per day. This feeding rate will cost less than 80¢ per head per day. In addition to reducing metabolic problems, Response™ PG can have a positive impact on peak milk enhancement, feed (energy) intake and reproduction performance due to improved energy balance and rumen function.

RODENT PROBLEMS!

- torn feed sacks
- droppings and urine stains
- rodent hair
- grease smears on walls and floors
- gnawed doors, walls, wiring and insulation
- burrows along foundations and fence lines



The Solutions From All Alliance Animal Health

Wipe Out™

- Fast killing
- Highly palatable carrier
- Neurotoxin - not an anticoagulant
- Effective against anticoagulant resistant rats and mice
- Available in 1/2 ounce all weather blocks, 25 per bottle

ALLIANCE ANIMAL HEALTH

Blue Death®-D Rat and Mouse Bait

- Reduces blood clotting ability to eliminate rodents
- Added blue coloring as a safety precaution
- Low intake required
- Highly palatable ingredients for reduced feeding days to death
- Available in convenient 50 gram throw packs

July Class I Price

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Recently, the Milk Marketing Board (MMB) announced the prices to be paid to Pennsylvania dairy farmers for July Class I milk as an average of $16.11 in the western areas of the Commonwealth and an average of $16.60 in the central and eastern areas of the Commonwealth. Class I milk is beverage type milk.

These prices do include the current over-order premium of $1.00 per one hundred pounds of milk, and the fuel adjustment premium of $.25 per one hundred pounds of milk is included.

Since 1988, the MMB has mandated over-order premiums on Class I milk due to adverse conditions affecting the Pennsylvania dairy farmer.

Chairwoman Beverly R. Minor announced that since the inception of the MMB's over-order premium in 1988, Pennsylvania dairy farmers have received an additional $209,472,000 in income.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PURCHASE A ROUND BALER FROM BINKLEY & HURST BROS. INC.

Make Your Purchase Today! If You're Looking For A Small Round Baler For A Small Price, See Binkley & Hurst Bros. Today!

CASE IH Electric Tie

If You're in the Market For a Round Baler, Make Sure You Look At the CASE IH 8420

* Many standard features you might pay extra for with other machines – features like dual tension arms, side-mounted gathering wheels, centrally located drive system, bale counter, mechanical bale-full alert and a "tailgate latched" indicator
* Make up to a 550-pound bale Requires just 30 PTO horsepower

CASE IH SUPPORT COMMITTED TO EVERY PART

* And, big value. You can probably buy a new 8420 for what other used models would cost you.

And, you get more than an economical baler. We are committed to providing genuine, value-priced Case IH parts, professional and reliable service, and flexible financing.

Open Throat Design to Eliminate Plugging. Variable Height Bale from Only 30" Up To 54" for Manual Handling in Small Barns and 39" Width. Works in all Types of Crop Residue including Corn Fodder

Your Source For Quality Grain Handling Equipment
A premium quality galvanized auger designed for low maintenance operation.

Mayrath introduces the all new "InLine Drive" series of portable grain augers Mayrath has combined operational efficiency with long term dependability providing you with a high quality, GALVANIZED auger at a very affordable price The revolutionary "InLine Drive" system minimizes the number of moving parts greatly reducing costly downtime and maintenance in the future.

Mayrath InLine Drive

DIAMETER	CAPACITY	LENGTHS
8"	3200 BPH	32', 42', 52', 62', 72'
10'	4500 BPH	32', 42', 52', 62', 72'

The unique "InLine Drive" design features an internally mounted gearbox inside of an expanded, bell shaped tube housing Auger flighting is positioned to allow a high volume of unrestricted grain flow around the internal gearbox. A new intake design utilizes double flighting and a cupped intake guard to offer a high capacity, complete cleanout operation A specially engineered hopper bolts directly to top of the intake guard, further enhancing the augers capacity.

The InLine Drive
Unique in design, high in efficiency

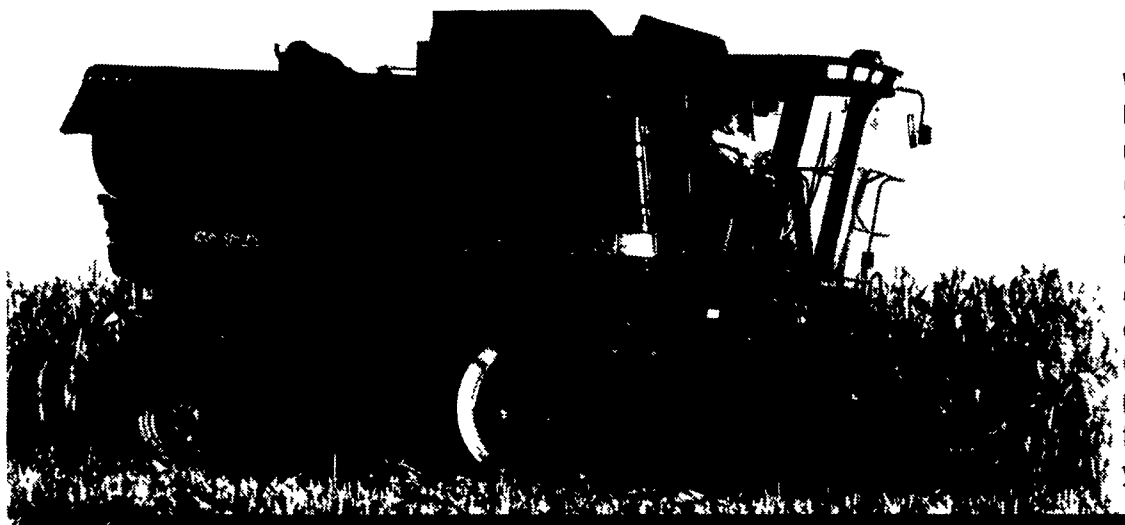
Why Is This Rotary Combine Simply the Best?



At Hoober, Inc. we believe it's simple to see why a Case-IH Rotary Axial-Flow Combine is better than all other rotary combines. Because it's simple. A Case-IH Rotary Axial-Flow Combine has only ONE moving part in it's entire threshing/separating process . . . a single large-diameter rotor. Open up the side shield on any other rotary combine and compare it to the drive mechanism, and you will see that the Case-IH rotary combine has fewer moving parts, which means fewer problems. Because the more moving parts there are, the greater your chance of breaking down.

And when it comes to servicing the most productive combine in farming, no dealer understands the Case-IH Rotary Axial-Flow Combine better than Hoober. Hoober introduced the Case-IH Rotary Axial-Flow Combine to the East, and our combine service specialists have been working with Axial-Flow technology since 1977

To put more quality grain in the tank than with any other harvesting system, go with the rotary combine and dealer that are simply the best. The Case-IH Rotary Axial-Flow Combine and Hoober, Inc.

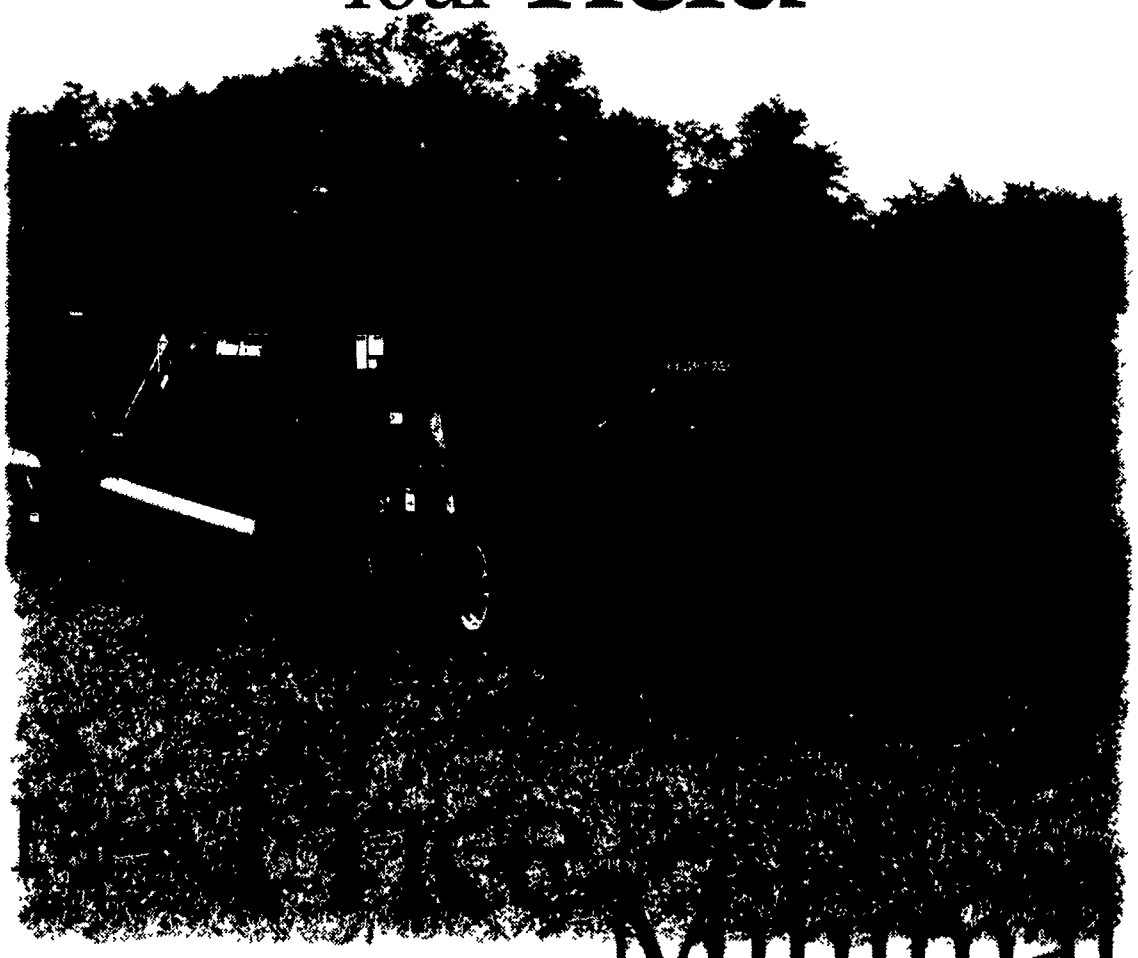
Maximize Your Yield Potential Minimal



When it comes to improving Relative Feed Value and maximizing the Crude Protein in hay, nothing outperforms the New Idea® 5209 Disc Mower Conditioner. Its high-speed disc cutterbar glides through fields with ease, even in extreme conditions. And the unique Ti-Cor™ Conditioning Rolls gently condition the stems, speeding drydown.

The 5209's reliable design keeps you mowing and conditioning year after year. With the segmented cutterbar driveshaft, a New Idea innovation, the cutterbar is truly modular, which makes for easy maintenance.

To see the disc mower conditioner that'll exceed your expectations — not your budget, visit your AGCO® New Idea dealer today.

Farm Plan A Service of FPC Financial

Nothing compares to a Super Boom

Why choose a New Holland skid-steer?

- Superior visibility
- Unbeatable stability
- Faster speeds
- Superior dump height & reach
- Greater bucket & lift capacity
- The most attachments
- Unmatched dependability

NEW HOLLAND

Stop by today and see the LS180 for yourself and why no other skid steer can compare.

Big capacity. Uniform chop.

No other forage harvesters give you best-in-class capacity and chop quality. Only the new FP230 forage harvesters from New Holland.

- Rugged 1,000-rpm driveline matches higher-horsepower tractors. Use the FP230 with tractors up to 225 PTO hp.
- Massive 12-knife cutterhead produces a uniform length of cut from 3/16" to 1-5/16" with four knives.
- Knife sharpening and shearbar adjustment are easy to keep cutting performance at its best.
- Optional on-board Crop-Pro™ crop processor makes feed more digestible and saves the expense and time of using a stationary roller mill.
- Optional Metalert® III electronic metal detector gives you peace of mind.

CLAAS® Country
Meeting all your harvesting needs!

Chopping quality is extremely important for silage and also digestion of the feed. Sharp knives and a precisely adjusted shearbar guarantee a clean cut and even crop flow Four intake and precompression rollers – two upper and two lower rollers – compress the crop densely and transport it to the chopping cylinder. The latest generation of metal detectors is located in the lower front roller The gearbox provides for 6 different chop lengths. The changeover between two lengths in each range can be done at the touch of a button. The impressive CLAAS chopping cylinder on all JAGUAR models is a full 29.5" wide with 24 knives in V-formation gives 28,800 cuts per minute. The shearbar is adjusted to the knives without tools. The result is ease of maintenance, with contact adjustment and a power saving cut, plus excellent forage quality.

The high quality of corn forage produced by the JAGUAR is derived from the CLAAS corn cracker. Two saw toothed rollers run at different speeds with 20% difference to open up virtually every kernel. This means good quality silage that is easily digested.

Hotspot Hunting Sign-Up Under Way

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Pennsylvania Farm Bureau is reminding farmers that the deadline for sign-up in this year's "hotspot" deer hunt is Thursday, Aug. 31.

Farmers suffering deer damage to crops who wish to enroll in the program should contact their regional Pennsylvania Game Commission office by that date.

The "hotspot" program, known officially as the Deer Damage Area Program, allows a hunter with an anterless license for that county to harvest an antlerless deer on an enrolled farm during the regular firearms antlered deer or "buck" hunting season. This year's season runs from Nov. 27 to Dec. 8.

Farmers interested in the "hotspot" program will be visited by a wildlife conservation officer this fall and given the opportunity to enroll in one of the agency's public access programs. The farmers will be given green signs which will alert hunters that identified areas contain too many deer and are open for public hunting.

Hunters will be able to obtain listings of properties enrolled in the "hotspot" program by sending a stamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope to the regional office for the county in which the hunter holds an antlerless deer license.

For more information about enrollment in the "hotspot hunt" program, farmers should contact the Game Commission regional offices at the following toll-free numbers:

- Northwest region — (814) 432-3187 — for Butler, Clarion, Crawford, Erie, Forest, Jefferson, Lawrence, Mercer, Venango, and Warren counties.
- Southwest region — (724) 238-9523 — for Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Cambria, Fayette, Greene, Indiana, Somerset, Washington, and Westmoreland counties.
- Northcentral region — (717) 398-4744 — for Cameron, Centre, Clearfield, Clinton, Elk, Lycoming, McKean, Potter, Tioga, and Union counties.
- Southcentral region — (814) 643-1831 — for Adams, Bedford, Blair, Cumberland, Franklin, Fulton, Huntingdon, Juniata, Mifflin, Perry, and Snyder counties.
- Northeast region — (717) 675-1143 — for Bradford, Carbon, Columbia, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Monroe, Montour, Northumberland, Pike, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Wayne, and Wyoming counties.
- Southeast region — (215) 926-3136 — for Berks, Bucks, Chester, Dauphin, Delaware, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Montgomery, Northampton, Schuylkill, and York counties.

Pennsylvania Farm Bureau is a nongovernmental, statewide farm organization representing more than 28,000 farm and rural families.

Late Blight Could Pose Problem In Fields

Eric Oesterlins
Westmoreland County Agent

The plentiful rainfall and cooler temperatures have made this a much better growing season than we have seen in recent years, especially compared to last year's drought.

However, this weather has also been ideal for some fungus diseases.

Late blight has the most potential to do severe damage to the home vegetable garden. It only affects potatoes and tomatoes but it can destroy a planting of either one of these vegetables in a week or two of wet weather.

This same disease caused the failure of Irish potato crops 150 years ago, resulting in the infamous Irish potato famine and subsequent mass emigration of Irish to America.

No, I don't expect to see mass starvation in western Pennsylvania because of late blight, but I would not be surprised to see a lot of very disappointed gardeners. After all, what single crop is more important to vegetable gardeners than tomatoes?

Late blight can destroy entire plantings of tomatoes and make the fruit useless. You may remember the outbreak of late blight in 1994 that killed plants and rotted tomatoes in local gardens from mid-August on.

The potential for an even more destructive outbreak is present this year. The disease has already been positively diagnosed in tomatoes in Westmoreland and Allegheny counties and potatoes in a commercial potato planting in Crawford County. Since the spores can blow 50 miles or more during wet weather, we have to assume innoculum for this disease is everywhere and wet weather makes conditions ideal for infection.

Symptoms of the disease include dark spots on leaves and stems, often with a light green margin around the dark spot. In wet weather there can be a whitish downy growth on the spots, especially on the undersides of the leaves. During wet weather the spots will extend rapidly right across leaf veins and up and down stems. With a week or two of wet weather, the entire plant can look like it has been scorched. The disease shows up on the fruit as a firm chocolate brown rot.

So what can gardeners do? The only protection is spraying fungicides on a weekly basis. In order of effectiveness from most effective to least, the suggested active ingredients are chlorothalonil, mancozeb, maneb, and copper. Trade names include:

- Chlorothalonil: Ortho Vegetable Disease Control, Daconil, and others.
- Mancozeb: Manzate 200, Dithane M-45 and others.
- Maneb: Maneb. Copper fungicides: Check garden centers for trade names.

Remember that tomatoes and potatoes must be listed on the label for the product to be legal on these crops. Organic gardeners who don't want to use "chemical" fungicides may be willing to use a copper containing material. Copper is fairly effective but not as good as the other ingredients. It is an arbitrary distinction — copper is not as effective nor is it any safer.

Fungicides are preventive, not curative, and these are not systemic chemicals, so coverage must be thorough and repeated weekly. Once infection is widespread in the garden, it will be too late to save the planting, and it probably should be destroyed to minimize spread to gardens of neighbors and friends.

Unless the weather does an about-face, gardeners will be bringing in samples and asking questions about late blight. If gardeners want to harvest a good crop of tomatoes and/or potatoes this August and September, they need to be spraying to protect their plantings.

USDA Launches New Online Report On Ocean Container Market

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The USDA recently announced the publication of Agricultural Ocean Transportation Trends, a semiannual, online report that provides information on the ocean container market's cost and service trends.

"We created this report in response to a growing need among agricultural shippers for reliable information and assistance in the area of containerized shipping," said Kathleen Merrigan, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. "It will give them the best, most up-to-date information that we can provide to help them remain competitive and deal with legislated changes in the ocean shipping market."

Information in the report was developed using data reported monthly in the AMS Ocean Rate Bulletin, which tracks agricultural container rates to most Asian and some European countries and covers high-valued agricultural commodities. The data are used to generate monthly container rate trends in the ocean container market to provide shippers and carriers with a better view of how the market is responding to changes in trade patterns or U.S. regulations.

The report also provides a perspective on the new confidential service contracting procedures that came into effect May 1, 1999. This information and other factors which affect, or are expected to affect, the market are collected from interviews with agricultural shippers that control more than 150,000 40-foot equivalent units.

Agricultural Ocean Transportation Trends can be viewed on the Internet at www.ams.usda.gov/tmd/agott.

For more information, contact Heidi Reichert, Shipper and Exporter Assistance, Transportation and Marketing, Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA, Room 1217-S, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250-0267; (202) 690-2325 or e-mail Heidi.Reichert@usda.gov.

"I'm pleased with how quickly it mixes."
-Herbert Benner, Gap, PA

"Our Roto-Mix mixer from Lapp's Barn Equipment processes dry baled hay real well. I can feed the TMR through my Weaverline Feed Cart without the hay wrapping around the augers.

"We have fewer off-feed problems, and the mixer helps us get constant milk production. It's also a good management tool because it allows me to keep more accurate feed cost records."

Herbert Benner is presently milking 50 cows in a tie stall barn.

- Owned Roto-Mix 184 stationary mixer from Lapp's since 1998
- Increased milk production averages 5 to 6 lbs. per cow
- 22,000 lb. herd average
- Ration: corn silage, haylage, cotton seed, 1 to 2 bales of hay.

THE ADVANTAGES OF ROASTED CORN

* Earlier Harvest - Our roaster will dry corn down eight to ten points of moisture.

* Higher Digestibility - Research studies show that roasted corn is more digestible than high-moisture corn.

* Purer Feed - Our wet growing season has the potential of producing mold spores in standing corn that is harmful to livestock, swine and poultry. Our flame roaster can effectively remove mold spores.

* Drier Total Ration - With less fermented feed. Supplementing the hay and corn silage diet with dry corn aids better rumin health.

* Greater Profits - Dairy herds fed roasted corn advance two to eight lb. per cow in milk and improves herd health.

PREPARE™ HER FOR THE JOB MARKET.

A dry cow may be off the production line, but properly fed and cared for, she can produce 1,000 to 2,000 lbs. more milk in the following lactation. Purina® Prepare™ Dry Cow Supplement is nutritionally-blended to help dry cows achieve the optimum calving weight and body condition. That can mean a healthier cow that cycles and rebreeds on schedule. Ask Purina how you can increase production potential in dry cows and reduce calving problems. Because the time to Prepare is now.
